Canadian Railway Strike Set For July 15

120,000 To Quit Work Unless Pay Dispute Settled

MONTREAL (CP)—A strike which would paralyze Canadian railway transportation was set today for July 15 as spokesmen for 120,000 rail workers told employers and the government they would walk out on that date unless their wage dispute was settled.

The workers, members of 18 International Brotherhoods, have been seeking a general 35-cents-an-hour wage increase since last November.

Key men so far as the dispute is concerned are the members of the running trades, the firemen, locomotive drivers, conductors, trainmen and railroad telegraphers.

But with 18 brotherhoods involved a walkout would go far beyond stopping trains and would extend into the shops and various maintenance segments of railway operation.

Union men, having made their announcement, could not be reached for comment. The railways said they might have something to say later.

FEW AGAINST WALKOUT

The announcement said a strike ballot begun after the unions had rejected a conciliation board report showed "only a comparative handful" against a strike.

It followed by 18 days an announcement that mediation proceedings involving 28,000 members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other Transport Workers (C.C.L.), had broken down. The C.B.R.E. spokesmen claimed their membership had voted 97 per cent in favor of calling a strike in a similar dispute.

Today's announcement was made by Frank H. Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee representing the international brotherhoods in the dispute. He released at the same time a letter sent the railways by the unions Friday advising them of the brotherhoods' intentions.

Island Forest Fire Closure Near

2 Uncontrolled Coast Fires Rage Over 400 Acres

B.C. forest protection officers said today that a general closure of Vancouver Island forests will have to be considered in two or three days if the current wave of hot dry weather continues.

This prediction came while officials of the B.C. Forest Service clamped a travel embargo on Sayward forest, north of Campbell River, to go into effect at midnight Wednesday and as two forest fires in the Vancouver Island area, started Monday night, today raged out of control.

The two blazes are being battled by more than 100 men.

The high temperatures of the week-end and Monday brought outbreaks of dozens of forest fires in the Vancouver forest district, which includes all Vancouver Island, and in the Fort George district.

Nine "spot" fires, attributed to the railway, broke out during the week-end on the Pacific Great Eastern Line in the Vancouver forest district. They were followed by five more "spot" fires Monday. All have been extinguished.

A 15th fire in that area is at Alta Lake on the P.G.E., and it has been controlled, forest protection officers said.

BIGGEST BLAZE

Biggest fire in the Vancouver district today is on the Smith and Osberg logging operations at Port Harvey. Raging out of control it is being fought by 60 men and at 5 Monday afternoon had roared through 240 acres.

Port Harvey is on Cracroft Island, just across Johnstone Strait from Vancouver Island.

According to reports to the B.C. Forest service headquarters today the fire is still uncontrolled.

The second uncontrolled forest fire of the Vancouver forest district is on the operations of the Granite Bay Logging Company in the Sayward forest. The fire started at the south end of Bear Lake and has spread towards Duck Lake, despite the efforts of 40 men to stem its advance.

The Fort George forest district today has 27 forest fires burning, including seven new outbreaks on Monday. A total of 91 men are fighting these fires.

Hazard in that district is reported high.

But one fire is burning in the Nelson forest district and Kamloops forest district has two fires burning. These are being watched.

No reports are available from the Prince Rupert forest district indicating that there is no serious trouble there.

Generally the hazard in the southwestern part of the province is inceasing, forest protection officers said.

London Dockers Vote To Resume Work Tomorrow

LONDON (CP) — State of emergency regulations aimed at releasing Britain's strike-bound economy may not be used in view of the London dock workers' vote today to return to work tomorrow.

Informed government sources said the virtually unlimited powers authorized under the King's proclamation Monday might not be put into force.

More than 5,000 London dock workers voted to end the 16-day work stoppage which pinched off London's food supplies. There were only about 100 dissenters.

At another meeting, 2,500 dockers and stevedores at the Surrey Commercial Docks unanimously favored an end to the strike, which began when 11 dockers demanded higher pay for handling a "dirty cargo" of zinc oxide.

PREMIER'S APPEAL HEARD

Declaration of a state of emergency and the broadcast appeal Monday night by Prime Minister Attlee were believed to have hastened the collapse of the strike, which was not authorized by union leaders.

But some 12,000 of the 16,000 Merseyside workers at Liverpool and Birkenhead remained out today along with about 18,000 in London. It was expected the Mersey workers who walked out Monday in sympathy, would follow London's lead.

Two thousand servicemen were unloading perishable food from 15 ships in London, where the cabinet is meeting to discuss the problem. A further 1,000 troops were standing by to help if the government should decide it is necessary to extend the operation.

Yugoslav Reds Turn Back Cominform Policy Charges

BELGRADE (Reuter) — The Yugoslav Communist Party in the strongest possible terms tonight rejected the criticisms of its policy made by the nine-country Cominform.

The rejection was made in a statement issued by the central committee of the Yugoslav Communist Party broadcast by all Yugoslav radio stations.

It said: "The Central Committee of the Russian Communist Party sent a letter on March 27 to all members of the Cominform except Yugoslavia.

"This letter consisted of strong accusations against the Yugoslav Communist Party, but the Yugoslav Communist Party was not informed of its contents or that the letter was sent.

"Shortly afterwards the central committee of the Hungarian Communist Party sent a letter to the Yugoslav central committee giving a resume of the accusations against the Yugoslav party. Copies of this Hungarian letter were sent to all other Communist parties except the Italian and French.

"The central committee of the Yugoslav Communist Party charged that the members of the Cominform accepted Russia's criticism of the Yugoslav party before they had heard the Yugoslav side. Later the Russian party sent three letters—in April and May—to the Yugoslav Communist Party with the accusations along the same lines."

Security Council May Act To End Berlin Deadlock

LAKE SUCCESS (CP) — A United States spokesman said today the United States is considering a request from United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie for action in the Security Council to break the Berlin deadlock.

Lie was reported studying whether to put the Berlin situation before the council. He could do this under a charter article which provides he may call the council's attention to any situation likely to threaten peace.

The United States spokesman said the request had been referred to the State Department and an answer was expected later today.

Exemptions Planned On Plant Basis

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb said today that exemptions of the sales tax on consumable goods used in manufacturing will be dealt with on an individual industry basis as the problems develop.

In a prepared statement issued after the cabinet Monday had heard representatives of B.C. manufacturers demand that consumable materials used by industry in producing goods be exempt from the tax, Mr. Anscomb said:

"It will require careful study and an analysis of the conditions, process of manufacture, etc., in each industry, but it is the intention of the government that the commissioner shall deal with these matters fully, making what necessary recommendations to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council he feels are proper in the individual circumstances."

Mr. Anscomb was referring to the commissioner administering the Social Security and Municipal Aid tax—the formal name for the sales tax. He is Lloyd F. Detwiller.

Athabaskan Held Off Port Awaiting Fatality Report

H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, the new Tribal Class destroyer which arrived in local waters early this morning after a futile effort to reach astoria, Ore., with a desperately ill crew member, will remain anchored off Esquimalt Harbor until medical officers report on the death of the seaman, Electrical Artificer 2nd Class Edward Zimmerman, it was reported shortly before noon today.

Athabaskan was en route to Esquimalt, her new naval base, when her course was altered and she sped towards Astoria in attempt to get Zimmerman ashore and to a hospital. However, the seaman died before the U.S. port was reached, and Athabaskan then proceeded on toward Esquimalt.

Zimmerman's widow, Joan, lives at 2571 Lincoln Road, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Zimmerman live at Brentwood.

Athabaskan is coming to Esquimalt naval base to be stationed with other ships of the R.C.N.'s active fleet. She will be the second active ship of her class to be stationed here. Cayuga was the first.

The new addition to the Pacific fleet strength left Halifax May 19 under the command of Cmdr. James S. Davis, and she is carrying aboard, in addition to her regular complement, a group of naval reservists and members of University Naval Training Divisions taking their annual summer training.

She is 355 feet overall length and has a 37-foot beam. Her engines, capable of developing 44,000 horsepower, can give her a speed of 36 knots.

Her fully modern armament includes six 4.7-inch guns, two four-inch anti-aircraft guns, four 21-inch torpedo tubes, and a large number of smaller anti-aircraft weapons.

43 Protest Permit For House To Hindu

A petition bearing 43 signatures was received at the City Hall today protesting any move by the city to allow East Indians to build houses and take up residence in the Vista Heights- Grosvenor Road area.

The petition states: "We feel that property in this neighborhood would depreciate considerably in value if an East Indian were allowed to take up residence there."

The petitioners were referring to the possibility of an East Indian building a house at the intersection of the two streets.

Civic officials said, unofficially, no action could be taken on the petition.

"We cannot restrict areas of the city from certain people. If an East Indian owns property, pays taxes, and complies with the regulations, he can build a house and live in it," said one.

Accidental Death Mars Regatta At Bedwell Harbor

An accidental death, which defied the aid of pulmotors flown in from Patricia Bay and Port Angeles, marred the opening of the Pacific International Yachting Association regatta Monday evening.

Dead is Mrs. Phil Smith, wife of Dr. Frank Smith of Millbrae, Calif., who arrived at Bedwell Harbor, Pender Island, only shortly before the tragedy.

According to reports at the scene, Mrs. Smith died from a heart attack. She had fallen from the wharf once and been pulled out safely and was laughing a little about the mishap when she collapsed and fell again, this time going backwards into a dinghy tied up at the wharf. She struck her head against the boat's gunwales.

Urgent calls were broadcast from dockside for doctors and stimulants. Aid came quickly but was of no avail. A St. John Ambulance officer and others relieved each other for more than an hour as they attempted artificial respiration.

In the meantime, emergency calls were put through to the R.C.A.F. marine section at Patricia Bay and to the U.S. side requesting pulmotors. The pulmotors were quickly put aboard planes and flown to the harbor, but as the first plane, the one from Patricia Bay, skimmed in to a landing, doctors pronounced the woman dead.

U.S. Rejects Red Protest On Magazine Article

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today turned down a Russia protest against an article in Newsweek magazine which Moscow termed "an example of unbridled propaganda for a new war."

State Secretary Marshall told Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin in a note that the United States government can not be held responsible for articles in the free American press.

"Any attempt on the part of the government of the United States to control or suppress articles of this type appearing in the public press would be a violation of the right of the freedom of the press which is guaranteed by the constitution of the United States," Marshall said.

The magazine defended its article as an objective attempt at reporting.

Reading at the Gonzales station at 11 a.m. today was 74 degrees, which means that the downtown temperature will be around 80 during the afternoon.

There is little likelihood that the alltime record for June will be threatened. On June 25, 1925, the mercury soared to 95 degrees.

No Allied personnel in the area were hurt seriously in the tremors Monday. The number of residents of the city injured in minor ways runs into the thousands.

Those who went through the quake here said it was almost as if Fukui was hit by an atom bomb. The city of 85,000 is heavily damaged.

Half the city, mostly wooden houses and structures, went down in the first tremor or so. Ninety-five per cent of what was left was burned and scorched and turned into rubble.

New Brunswick Voters Give Liberals 47 Out Of 52 Seats In Legislature

FREDERICTON (CP) — The Liberal government of Premier John B. McNair was swept back into power in New Brunswick Monday with its majority strongly bolstered.

Although rain fell in some sections, a heavy turnout at the polls gave the Liberals 47 of the 52 seats in the province's largest Legislature since Confederation.

This was the standing, compared with the result of the 1944 election when the House contained 48 members:

	1948	1944
Liberals	47	36
Prog. Conservatives	5	12
Total	52	48

The Conservatives' 12 seats after the 1944 election dropped to 11 when a by-election was won by E. Claude Seeley, an Independent candidate, in Saint John County. Totals at the House prorogation last May were: Liberals 36, Progressive Conservatives 1, Independents 1.

Incomplete Canadian Press tabulations indicated the total vote was lower than the 1944 record of 584,016, which included more than 64,000 in Gloucester, this year taken by acclamation by the Liberals.

This total is not the number of voters but the number of votes cast. Each of the 17 ridings has more than one seat.

The Liberals gained 57.4 per cent of the votes compared with their 1944 total of 48.3 per cent. The Conservatives fell from 40 per cent in 1944 to 31 per cent.

On the basis of its trend-analysis of early returns, the Canadian Press indicated re-election of the government with an increased majority one hour and 40 minutes after the polls had closed.

PREMIER McNAIR

NO C.C.F. ELECTED

The C.C.F., which placed a total of 20 candidates in the field, failed to elect a member, as did the Social Credit Party, which ran five candidates in its first bid in New Brunswick.

Eight independents, one of whom held a seat in the last Legislature, all were defeated.

The lone woman candidate, Mrs. Gladys West, who ran under the C.C.F. banner in Queen's County, also went down to defeat. She was trying to be the first woman to enter the New Brunswick House.

All cabinet minister won re-election as the Liberals took all but two of the 16 contested ridings.

Liberals took the two cities—Moncton and Saint John.

It was the fourth straight election victory for the Liberals. The party swept the Progressive Conservatives out of office in 1935 and remained in power at the 1939 and 1944 elections.

Progressive Conservative leader Hugh Mackay won a personal victory in King's County along with his two running mates.

The only other Progressive Conservative victors were in the three-member Carleton County, where one Liberal gained a seat formerly held by the opposition.

C.C.F. Leader Joseph Arrowsmith lost in his bid for election in Saint John city.

GREAT ENDORSEMENT

Premier McNair said he believed the results gave his party an endorsation such as "has never been accorded before in the history of the province."

Mr. Mackay congratulated Mr. McNair on "enjoying the confidence of the voters to such an extent."

Mr. Arrowsmith said his party had established "a strong base of operation in the province." He claimed the returns showed a new political alignment was taking place and that the Conservative Party was fast disappearing.

Following is the Canadian Press list of party gains:

Liberals, 11.

From Progressive Conservatives—Saint John City 4, Saint John County 1, Carleton 1.

From Independents — Saint John County 1.

New seats, 4.

It was a matter of moments until his chains had been snapped and agents took him into custody. Victorians were advised Tuesday night to continue to send food parcels to the United Kingdom.

The appeal came from B.C.'s deputy trade and industry minister, E. G. Rowebottom, who told the Vancouver Island division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association that the B.C. parcels were important in relieving the monotony of the Britons' rationed diet.

"They need those parcels," he said, noting that living in Britain today was still grim although the people were cheerful and the children often seemed to appear more robust than in British Columbia.

WEXFORD, Ont. (CP)—A violent windstorm ripped through this York County community near Toronto late Monday. It uprooted trees, tore the roofs from a house and a barn and smashed a cement-block chicken house.

The storm, which damaged a mile-long stretch of farmland, lasted only a few minutes.

The wind struck first at the farm of Auburn Ashbridge, where it tore up orchard trees and injured a cow. Then it doubled back, lifted the roof off the barn and tossed a cultivator 50 feet.

House Backs Price Report Aimed To Cut Living Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—The recommendations of the Prices Committee—aimed directly at reducing the cost of living—bear the significant stamp of parliamentary approval today.

Whether this means the government will put them into effect remains a question, but it is a matter of record that Health Minister Martin, the government spokesman, gave them a spirited defence before the Commons adopted them Monday night without even the formality of a recorded vote.

Closing a bitter two-day debate that blocked the prorogation drive, Mr. Martin challenged the Progressive Conservative Party to say which of the 14 recommendations it would oppose.

ALL REMAIN SEATED

When the motion for adoption was called, none in the official opposition benches rose to record their dissatisfaction with the report, though many had belabored it during the debate. C.C.F. and Social Credit members, some of whom were lukewarm towards the report, also remained seated.

The recommendations, which Progressive Conservative spokesmen charged had been drawn up by the government itself ratner than the committee and thus represented unspoken government policy, were that the government "consider" these steps:

1. Removal of last November's emergency excise taxes on "commodities in common use" and removal of the import ban on fruits and vegetables.

2. Reimposition of individual price controls and revival of temporary subsidies where it was shown hardship otherwise would result.

3. Revision of rent control regulations to remove hardship in certain cases.

4. Consideration of the Canadian supply situation and the interests of producers and consumers before removing export embargoes on certain foods (apparently the embargo on the shipment of beef cattle to the United States).

The government already had indicated its adoption of another recommendation—that a commission continue the work of the committee after prorogation — by placing an appropriation for $50,000 to cover this suggestion in its supplementary estimates.

BRACKEN SPEAKS

A bristling barrage of criticism came from the opposition benches before Mr. Martin, who had served as chairman of the all-party committee, closed the debate.

Mr. Bracken charged that the government itself had brought about the rise in prices through its policies of high taxation, expansion of credit and currency and improper decontrol.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said the cost of living could be reduced by 20 per cent in a period of months through "wise and carefully-planned taxation reduction."

F. S. Zaplitny, C.C.F., Dauphin, Man., said the C.C.F. realized permanent price control was not the complete solution to the problem of high prices. It felt that governments of the future would have to go farther and farther into the field of public ownership.

With the prices debate ended, the chamber resumed study of revenue department estimates as the prorogation drive picked up fresh impetus. There was some hope, though none would make an outright prediction, that the sessional work might be completed late tonight.

New Facades, Paint Brightening London

Grey London is taking on the first signs of a postwar cheerfulness.

According to E. G. Rowebottom, B.C.'s deputy minister of trade and industry who returned this month from a visit to the United Kingdom with the B.C. Buyers' delegation, the bomb-scarred city is putting on gay colors of white and cream and light grey; modern streamline store fronts are replacing some of the old-style facades, and light standards are being repainted.

During a week's stay the change was quite noticeable, he said, and it was not only true of London but of other British cities.

Precautions Outlined To Halt Poliomyelitis

The provincial health department warned today that good home sanitation and scrupulous personal cleanliness were good precautions against any disease, including poliomyelitis.

The polio season is close at hand and to date this year there have been sporadic cases. With 13 cases reported in that area Fort St. John, in the Peace River district, has a localized epidemic of the dread disease.

In its monthly health bulletin the department warned the warning symptoms of poliomyelitis, which begin suddenly days or weeks after exposure, are headache, nausea, sometimes with vomiting, slight temperature, listlessness, fatigue, loss of appetite and occasionally mild tonsilitis or slight head cold

"No matter how unimportant they seem, however, they should definitely be investigated by a doctor if poliomyelitis is known to be in the community, and one good reason is because careful handling in the early stages of pre-paralytic polio might tip the scales between satisfactory recovery or more serious crippling," said the department.

During the second stage, one to four days after the first illness, symptoms are repeated in an aggravated form.

TELLING SYMPTOMS

The most telling and differentiating symptoms of all, which are typical of the third, preparalytic stage, are stiffness of neck and spine, or difficulty in swallowing or breathing.

"Medical attention and absolute rest are imperative and sore muscles must not be massaged," said the department. "When paralysis does occur, chances of partial or complete recovery are reasonably good under expert medical care."

It is not yet known definitely how poliomyelitis is spread but it is substantiated that polio is a disease of the gastro-intestinal tract and can be spread from human sewage through innumerable cycles and that many people contact a very mild form of the disease without actually appearing ill.

"These people may be responsible for unknowingly spreading the disease to others," the department said.

Food should be protected from contamination by flies, and assurance should be taken that milk and water supplies are safe. Chilling and sudden temperature changes, particularly after swimming in cold water on hot days, should be avoided along with extreme fatigue.

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British Military Governor for Germany, declared today that if the Russians persist in their blockade of Berlin it will "constitute an act of ruthless inhumanity unparalleled in the history of the world."

"The situation in Berlin is grave not only for the people of Berlin, grave not only for the people of Germany—it is grave for the people of the world."

Mark Clark, commander of the 6th Army. Latter Day Saints Church President George Albert Smith and Utah Governor Herbert B. Maw. No other family in the U.S. is reported to have suffered such great loss within such a short span of time. A fifth son, Boyd, was discharged from the Marines to return to a brotherless home.—NEA Telephoto.

Explosions And Fire

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Explosions of naphtha and paint drums made a $150,000 fire at the Pruett-Schaffer Chemical Company plant sound like an artillery barrage today. Two persons were injured in the two-hour fight firemen had with flames which finally destroyed the four-story plant.

U.S. Expected To Send Note On Berlin Tussle To Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials were reported preparing new, tough diplomatic moves today to crack Russia's land blockade of Berlin.

Although officials maintained a tight-lipped silence, indications mounted that a diplomatic stroke aimed directly at Moscow might be unleashed tomorrow or Thursday.

The nature of any such plan was cloaked in strictest secrecy, but signs pointed to a stern note demanding that Russia lift the eight-day-old blockade and quit other unity-hampering tactics—or take responsibility for the consequences.

Meanwhile diplomatic and military officials held a fast-breaking series of conferences in Washington and abroad which pointed to an early break in the Berlin impasse.

These were the major developments:

1. State Under-Secretary Robert Lovett conferred with President Truman Monday and later attended a White House cabinet session. There was no official word on the topics under discussion, but it was learned that one of them was the Berlin situation.

2. Army Under-Secretary William Draper and United States Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas went into a London conference with Foreign Secretary Bevin. Draper then flew to Berlin for conferences with the U.S. commander, Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

3. Prime Minister Attlee summoned Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff, to a special cabinet session Monday night.

Bevin meantime put off until Wednesday a statement on overall British policy in Germany which he had been scheduled to make before Parliament Monday.

While hopeful that a strongly-phrased note to Moscow would bring about a reversal of Russian policy, authorities here laid stress on actions rather than words to resolve the deadlock. They pointed out that the immediate task confronting the western powers was to prevent starvation of Germans in their occupation zones.

Berlin Drafts Appeal To U.N.

BERLIN (AP) — Berlin's city government drafted today an appeal for the United Nations to intervene in the food crisis caused by Russia's blockade of the city's land transport lifelines.

Frau Louis Schroeder, Berlin's Socialist Lord Mayor, said the city government had decided the U.N. was "the only institution to which Berlin can appeal in its present distress."

Secretary-General Trygve Lie of the U.N. was reported Monday night to be studying whether to present the Berlin situation to the Security Council.

COAL NEEDED

The Russians, meanwhile, acknowledged they are being pinched by their own blockade. The Soviet-controlled press announced emergency imports of 36,000 tons of hard coal are being rushed in from Poland.

An announcement Monday night by the Russian-controlled German news agency that the Russians were relaxing their zonal border restrictions to permit resumption of interzonal traffic by Germans remained without confirmation today.

At British and U.S. check points along the Helmstedt-Berlin highway, guards said no motor traffic was being passed by the Russians toward Berlin. Some German pedestrians were reported waiting for permission to proceed. The order presumably applied only to automobile and pedestrian traffic.

P.E.I. Votes 73% For Liquor; To Get 1 Bottle A Week

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — For the first time since 1878 Prince Edward Islanders Monday voted in favor of liquor sale and did it with a resounding 73 per cent of the vote.

With only a handful of the 239 polling booths still to report, government control defeated prohibition 20,019 to 7,285, revised figures show.

The government control measure, officially called the Temperance Act, cannot come into effect for several weeks because of the paper work involved, Premier Jones said today.

It provides for a rationing system allowing each adult a bottle of liquor or a case of beer a week. The act will be administered by a commission established last April.

It will replace the Cullen Amendment, which gave islanders the same amount of alcoholic beverage through doctors' prescriptions. The amendment was tacked on to a prohibition law in 1945.

About 60 per cent of the island's voting strength of 52,000 turned out, despite predictions that precipitation would be heavy. In the general election last December, nearly 45,000 had cast ballots.

TRUE TO FORM

YESTERDAY'S GENERAL ELECTION in the Province of New Brunswick was expected to end in a victory for the Liberal government of Premier J. B. McNair. But few would have predicted that the leader of the party in office for so long would have made such a clean sweep of so many of the 52 contests as he did. To be sure, at dissolution last month his following constituted 36 Liberals—against 11 Progressive Conservatives, with the other seat occupied by an Independent.

This was a political state of affairs sufficient to encourage any campaigner in the realm of public life. By another token, however, these are times which emphasize the imponderables. Anything might happen when the voters find themselves in the privacy of the polling booths faced by a solemn obligation to perform a sacred duty, a privilege, by the way, which this country has not lost.

Little remains to be said about a victory which has returned Premier McNair to office with a total following of 47 out of 52 seats in the next Legislature. The division of political strength at the polls speaks for itself. At the same time, not for a moment discounting the significance of the major party's victory, no government with the best intentions in the world is or can be at its best without a substantial and intelligent opposition—such, for example, as the Socialist administration of Premier Douglas in Saskatchewan will encounter when he confronts the next Parliament in Regina.

For the moment, however, it will be for Mr. Bracken, Mr. Coldwell, and Mr. Low to make the best of yesterday's result in New Brunswick. Provincial Progressive Conservative leader Hugh Mackay, having been in the fray from the day of dissolution in the important maritime province, doubtless has his own private views on the popular verdict.

NO TEMPORIZING

UNDER THE SOVIET SYSTEM, WHERE the state is paramount and the individual exists merely as a digit in the national total, the hardship of large sections of the population has no significance when political policy is at stake. This has been demonstrated several times in Russia's internal experience—the extermination of the kulaks, or small farmers, was a case in point. It is quite within the scope of Kremlin policy, therefore, that the Russian authorities in Germany should be prepared to starve out the civilian population of Berlin in order to triumph in their struggle to drive Britain, France and the United States out of the Reich capital. Soviet banning of rail shipments of food and other goods into Berlin, while ostensibly in retaliation for her former allies' action in establishing a new currency, is really part of her cold war to gain complete control of the city.

Statements of British and America leaders, however, have left no reason for the U.S.S.R. to believe that the western powers will be frightened or forced out. A large fleet of C-54 "flying boxcars" was ordered to ferry food to the 2,000,000 German residents of the western sectors of Berlin. They will join with other American planes that have been making as many as 120 flights a day with supplies for the beleagured area, adding concrete evidence to the flat statement of the British Foreign Office: "We do not intend to leave."

PLAYING THEIR GAME

BECAUSE THE UNCERTAIN TIMES through which we are passing seem to provide certain elements with ammunition to lambaste democratically-elected governments and their methods of doing business, we commend to our readers an article on this page which has a direct bearing on an understandable objection to retail prices demanded for certain food commodities.

The article to which we refer appeared in the Financial Post of Toronto—an important weekly which by no stretch of the imagination could be considered over friendly to the King administration—and its contents are particularly significant in detail because they clarify the difference between two Canadian women's organizations that are attempting to draw attention to a phase of the inflationary spiral.

What will strike most intelligent observers of the Canadian domestic scene, of course, is that at least one Progressive Conservative contemporary has swallowed hook, line, and sinker the gospel of the seemingly Communist-inspired and dominated Victoria Branch of the British Columbia Housewives Consumers' Association.

In other words, if the morning paper had concerned itself more with the chief aims of the Canadian Association of Consumers—a body with legitimate objectives—and less with a strange effort to score a doubtful point against the regime at Ottawa, it would not now be finding itself out on a limb. For it ought to know, if it does not, that the Canadian Association of Consumers proudly points to a membership which is attracting women of all political views, whose goal is a general readjustment of prices, coupled with the maintenance of a standard of quality by methods free from any taint of partisan political or ideological manoeuvre.

MORE MOSCOW MEDDLING?

HOW FAR THE PRESENT STRIKE OF dockworkers in Britain owes its origin to Communistic inspiration is a question which may be clarified when the present state of emergency has been brought to an end.

Prime Minister Attlee could never be accused of being impulsive. He is methodical and deliberate; but when he called upon His Majesty yesterday to proclaim a state of national emergency to deal with the condition which seriously threatened Britain's supply of food, he was acting as any other statesman in his position would have acted in a land still responsive to the basic principles of democracy.

Nor does Mr. Attlee make any bones about the condition confronting him and his administration. He categorically stated in a week-end speech that "Communist mischief" was, at least, partly responsible for this stoppage of work which had grievously threatened the larders of all Britons—regardless of station, creed, or political persuasion. And if the Communist hierarchy in Moscow should be proven guilty of fomenting discontent among the rank and file of the unions involved in the stoppage of work on ships laden with foodstuffs, it should not be long before the great majority of trades unionists in the British Isles rise in their wrath and say so.

Surely it is high time for law-abiding Britons—and they are in the majority—to teach a lesson to that element which, aided and abetted by the so-called intelligentsia and other fellow travelers, they will not soon forget.

FAMILY QUARREL

IT WOULD BE EASY TO READ TOO much into the reports from Prague that Marshal Tito and his Yugoslav administration have had their knuckles rapped by Stalin's Cominform. As one of the chief Russian satellite nations, Yugoslavia has played an important part in building up the eastern European group which has as its prime purpose the development of opposition to the western democracies and the failure of the "Marshall Plan."

Tito, indeed, was among the founders of the Cominform. Headquarters of the organization was established in his capital city of Belgrade. Monday's dispatches, however, quote an official Cominform statement as charging that Yugoslav Communist leaders have departed from the Marx-Lenin line, "created a hateful policy in relation to Soviet Russia and to the all-Communist Union of Bolsheviks, discredited members of the Soviet army," and placed Russian representatives in Yugoslavia under surveillance. The Cominform demands "either a true return to Marxist policy or a change of Communist leaders in Yugoslavia."

These are strong words to be directed against so prominent a member of the Soviet group. Whether or not they signify "the first crack in the Communist wall," recently predicted by some observers, remains to be seen. It would be merely wishful thinking to assume that the Communistic Russian empire is falling apart at this early date. But the fact remains that satellite solidarity, which has frightened more than one western nation, appears in this case to be more of a boast than a fact.

Reports indicate that Tito has been far busier building an exaggerated nationalism in his people, and creating the Tito-lord-and-leader myth, than in pointing the prayer rugs of the faithful in the direction of the Kremlin. Communism was his method, but Yugoslavianism was his goal. And, in the pyramiding power structure perfected by the followers of Marx, this was bound to lead to an eventual clash.

Tito has done considerable sabre-rattling in the faces of the democracies during the past couple of years. It may be that his apparent success encouraged him to throw his weight in an easterly direction as well. At any rate, the Cominform complains that "they treat Soviet Russia in the same manner as they treat the bourgeois states"—an ironic situation that must be highly exasperating to the men of Moscow. Here is an apparent falling-out that poses some interesting speculation.

HE WAS STILL SPEEDING

WHEN UNITED STATES MILITARY police on Saturday night saw a car going at an excessive speed down the highway in the section of Berlin over which they have jurisdiction, they quite naturally gave chase and arrested the driver and occupant. That the latter happened to be Marshal Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, was unfortunate. The car, however, was going too fast. If its speed violated the law, surely the occupants should have expected disciplinary action. Under certain circumstances, it could have been as much a menace to public safety as if it had been occupied by a sight-seeing G.I. Why, then, should Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States commander in Germany, have sent a personal apology to his Soviet opposite number? Are the Germans to learn democracy from a practice which makes one set of rules for the unimportant and another set for the important?

Walter Lippmann

THE OUTCOME

UNTIL THE NOMINATION of Governor Dewey the course of the Republican convention was, I think, determined by the factional feud between the Dewey and the Stassen forces. The two candidates quarreled many months ago and in the Oregon primary their quarrel became irreconcilable. Yet as a matter of fact they were natural allies. Within the limits of Republican philosophy, both were and are progressives in domestic and foreign affairs. By contrast with Taft, and of course with Bricker, Martin, Halleck, Green, Taber. There is no question that both are progressives.

WHATEVER THE cause of their quarrel, it was not that they differed seriously on principles and measures. But because they were quarrelling, it was made to appear as if Stassen was the leader of the progressives and that Dewey was the reactionary who had at all costs to be stopped. This false alignment divided the progressive forces and drove both Dewey and Stassen to seek unnatural alliances. That Dewey should have been put in nomination by Senator Martin of Pennsylvania was as unnatural as that Stassen collaborated with Taft.

THE DISUNITY of the progressives meant that the real alternative to Dewey was not Vandenberg, nor Warren, not Stassen but an outright victory for the Old Guard. It meant that if the nomination of Taft, or Bricker or Martin was to be prevented, only Dewey could prevent it. But as Dewey did not have the support of the other progressives, notably Stassen but also Warren and also, not Vandenberg but Vandenberg's friends, Dewey had to compromise with the Old Guard.

Senator Vandenberg proved to be right in his judgment that the Old Guard was stronger in the party than his own supporters were willing to believe. But the Old Guard was stronger than it was entitled to be until Dewey's nomination because the progressive forces were divided by the Stassen-Dewey feud.

THERE WAS NO WAY of nominating Vandenberg by organizing a "stop Dewey" movement. For any combination formed to stop Dewey was bound also to stop Vandenberg, Stassen and Warren. The real beneficiaries of a successful stop Dewey movement could have been only Taft or Bricker or Martin. There was no doubt about this in Taft's mind when he invited Stassen to make a provisional alliance against Dewey. With his usual straightforwardness Taft let it be known that his purpose in forming the alliance was to win the nomination for himself, and failing that, to discharge his obligation by giving Bricker a run.

GOVERNOR DEWEY IS, therefore, entitled to feel that if he had not played highly professional practical politics to win the nomination, the whole ticket and the next administration would have been captured by the men who control the House of Representatives and have written its dark and reactionary record. As it is, the disunity of the progressives enabled the Old Guard to hold their ground in the convention until Dewey was nominated. Then the centre of power shifted to the progressives and Warren's nomination is the result.

MANIFESTLY, it is now Governor Dewey's task to make himself, in a broad and not in a factional sense, the leader and the spokesman of the modern, the enlightened, and the progressive forces. They have had no abler or more effective executive and practical politician in this generation. Yet the fact is that they have not wholly accepted Dewey nor has he sought to win them. That may not be only a matter of temperament but really a consequence of the struggle for the nomination, which Dewey could win only by practical politics, not by an appeal to the people.

DEWEY HAS MATURED much since 1944, and he has matured well. His acceptance speech, which was in perfect taste, combining confidence with humility and vigor with magnanimity, showed that the party has a candidate and that the country will have a President who is still growing in power and in wisdom.

June Music

New York Times

ARE THERE MORE songbirds than usual this year, or have their songs seemed louder and more carefree when heard against the background of rain, mist and overcast skies? Ever on a murky day, they have made the world more cheerful; and when the sun has shone they have opened up with huge choruses that echoed to the hilltops.

Orioles have been particularly numerous and vocal in some areas, even outsinging the robins. Elsewhere the robins have drowned out all the other voices, particularly on a clearing evening after a day of rain. In still other sections the tanagers, doubly bright against overcast skies, have warbled paeans of praise to the foulest kind of weather.

JUNE IS A MONTH OF SONG to be sure, and perhaps it is because this has seemed so little like June that all this melody seems remarkable. Even the catbirds appear to have added more melody to their repertoire.

The Start Of A Summer's Jag

Symbol Of Europe's Hope

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

IT IS A WONDER that King Gustav V of Sweden was able to stand up under the celebration which marked his 90th birthday—15 hours of parades, speeches, gifts, feasts and fireworks, and six changes of uniform for the honored monarch. But the king has stood up under many worse ordeals in his 40 years on the throne. And his survival is, to a great extent, to his own credit.

When Gustav became king in 1907, such spectacles as the one he went through on his birthday were part of the usual trappings of monarchy. State visits and the like were part of the bread-and-circuses routine.

DOMOCRATIC PATTERN

But such pomp was not to Gustav's liking. Succeeding to the throne as an "old man" of nearly 50, he immediately tipped over the apple cart of tradition by refusing to go through the elaborate ceremony of a coronation. He set a democratic pattern quite unusual for the period.

Today only one monarch, the retired Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands, remains of those who sat on Europe's thrones when Gustav became king. Not only the monarchs, but most of the monarchies have vanished. King Gustav has seen the slightly controlled despotism of Kaiser Wilhelm and Czar Nicholas replaced by the uncontrolled despotism of Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin.

Yet Sweden's king has helped hold his country steady against the tides of absolutism that have threatened it on all sides. In two crises he stubbornly resisted the attempts to make Sweden abandon her neutrality. And by playing up the independence and indispensability of his country and its people, he helped Sweden to escape invasion.

SIMPLICITY

All this time the democratic simplicity of King Gustav's life has mirrored the growing democracy of his country. Though he liked to play tennis as "Mr. G."—and did, until two years ago—and while he enjoyed the theatre and Riviera vacations, the life of the king and the royal family has not been one of useless luxury.

He has encouraged his family to be active and useful. Many of his numerous progeny have distinguished themselves in various fields—art, science, business, athletics. Count Bernadotte, who is attempting to mediate the Palestine dispute, is his nephew.

Sweden's government has been controlled for several years by the socialist Labor Party, which is pledged to do away with the monarchy. But its leaders apparently have had a hard time convincing the Swedes that their aged king is a reactionary menace to their well being. The evidence seems to be all in the other direction.

SYMBOL OF HOPE

At 90, King Gustav has lived longer — though not reigned longer—than did the venerable Queen Victoria and the old Emperor Franz Josef of Austria. But he is not of their time or temper, though he was their contemporary. Rather he stands as an enduring symbol of Europe's change for the better, and as a man who led rather than followed the trend toward democracy. As such he is also a symbol of hope, outside his country as well as within it, that the freedom that he has fostered will prevail.

Are Reds Behind Housewives?

By RONALD WILLIAMS, in The Financial Post, April, 1948.

WHAT about the Housewives Consumers' Association?

In refusing to see this group in Ottawa, Finance Minister Abbott declared its primary purpose was to "foster Communist propaganda."

WHO ARE THEY?

The titular head of the organization, Mrs. Rae Luckock of Toronto, says such an implication is ridiculous.

Are any of its leaders Communists or Communist sympathizers and if so, who are they?

Take the Toronto group, Mrs. Luckock, besides being leader of the abortive Ottawa demonstration (which was spearheaded by the Toronto group) is also president of the Queen City organization. As such, she should know who's who.

Mrs. Luckock was a C.C.Fer and still may be although she's embarrassing the anti-Communist C.C.F.ers no end, particularly in view of their policy of no truck or trade with the L.P.P.

Vice - president, Mrs. Louise Watson, has been a candidate for Toronto's Board of Education with the support of the Communist weekly, the Tribune.

Secretary is Margery Ferguson, wife of Communist Dewar Ferguson, former L.P.P. alderman in Toronto, now business agent for the Red-run Canadian Seamen's Union.

Treasurer is Mrs. Reg. Wright, wife of Reg. Wright, official of the pro-Communist A.F.L. International Chemical Workers' Union and a leading light in last year's violence-ridden strike at the St. Lawrence Starch plant in Port Credit, Ont.

Campaign director, Helen Weir, is the wife of John Weir, former managing editor of the Communist newspaper and a Toronto school trustee. As campaign director, Mrs. Weir was the figurehead organizer of last week's Ottawa affair.

Corresponding secretary, Edna Hahn, lives in a Toronto suburb and is claimed by the Communist press, particularly during municipal elections when she runs for Board of education.

PARTY CONTROL

On the executive is at least one known Communist and two sympathizers. The known L.P.P.er, Mrs. Elizabeth Morton, ran as an L.P.P. candidate in the 1946 Parkdale, by-election and has sat on the Toronto Board of Education.

TYPICAL COMMUNIST STRATEGY

In Toronto, the Communists have had complete control of the housewives' group since the last election of officers. Up to then, they were kept pretty well under control. But resignations, brought on by constant Communist sniping, gave the Reds their chance. The election meeting was poorly attended (by anti-Reds) and the leftists grabbed all the key positions except the presidency which they left to a non-Communist—Mrs. Luckock. This is typical Communist front strategy.

So was the Ottawa demonstration. It fitted neatly into the pattern of Communist "popular front" exhibitions. It had a popular cause: Roll back prices; and it had the support of a lot of unsuspecting persons who didn't know they were being taken for an ideological ride.

A cross-Canada survey by The Post shows much the same set-up as in Toronto. The Housewives' Organization (not to be confused with the Canadian Association of Consumers) has turned out to be the most effective Communist front the Reds have had for a long time. Here's the picture in British Columbia:

When the branch of the eminently respectable and genuine Canadian Association of Consumers was formed, the party-lining Housewives Consumers' League changed its name. Observers believe it was done to deliberately confuse one organization with the other.

OFFICERS

Its head is Mrs. Freda Adams, politics unknown. At her right hand is Mrs. Effie Jones, veteran B.C. Communist who almost got elected mayor of Vancouver last fall, and is a former president of the group.

Secretary is Mrs. Marion Parkin, wife of Al. Parkin, educational director of the Communist-led C.I.O. Woodworkers, and a top ranking L.P.P.er.

Louder And Louder

Washington Post

A new advertising industry called store broadcasting is reported making great headway. Several grocery chains are trying it out. Housewives as they struggle with baskets or carts through grocery shopping crowds, trying to decide whether they can afford bananas after what they paid for lamb chops, now find themselves being urged through a loudspeaker to take home Zilch's canned beans or Blink's macaroni to surprise and delight their husbands. The voice is usually a compelling masculine one, frequently that of a familiar radio announcer. As yet, advertisers aren't fully decided whether this method will cause shoppers to harken to suggestion or to clap their hands over their ears and flee the store. If sales go up—as they already have on some products so advertised—loud speaker advertising will be extended.

SO THE BOLSHEVIST citadel which Lenin and Stalin built isn't without weakness of structure after all!

The Red Cominform's blistering condemnation of Yugoslavia's dictator, Marshall Tito, and his captains discloses a serious disaffection in one of the most important satellite states. This is the first big explosion of its kind to come to public knowledge and, as one would expect, Moscow has struck swiftly.

Tito's sins are not detailed but are summed up generally with the statement that Yugoslav Communists have departed from the Marx-Lenin line and that Tito and his colleagues have followed a course which is "hateful" to Soviet Russia. The cominform accuses them of being Trotzkyites, which is the supreme insult in the parlance of the Muscovites.

To get the full significance of this Trotzky slap it must be recalled that Stalin and Trotsky battled for leadership at the time of Lenin's death. Stalin won and Trotzky was expelled. The refugee wandered from country to country and finally wound up in Mexico where his brain was mysteriously beaten out with a spade.

SMALL SATISFACTION

These facts can be of small satisfaction to Tito—if he is still alive. He is reported to be at Bled, the Yugoslav summer capital.

The way it looks from here, Moscow finally decided that the Marshal had got too big for his breeches. This peasant's son, who worked his way up to leadership and displaced the Yugoslav monarchy, long has been regarded as a law unto himself. He improved on the customary Communist bullying and bluster. On several occasions he got tangled with the United States, and even defended his airmen in shooting down unarmed American planes over Yugoslavia. His regime also has been charged with supporting the Communist rebellion in Greece.

Tito has ruled Yugoslavia with an iron hand, and his dictatorship has been a bloody one. Under his regime hundreds of priests have been executed in a drive against the church. The toll of political deaths probably never will be known.

IDEAS TOO BIG

However, that presumably would have been all right with Moscow if "comrade Tito" had stuck to terrorism against anti-Communists and bullying the Democracies. But Tito had bigger ideas. He has given many signs of looking upon himself as Czar of Russia's Balkan satellites.

Well, now, you can't get away with that stuff in the Muscovite empire. Let it be known that Tito isn't the only ambitious Communist leader, and anyone who sticks his head up too high is likely to get it lopped off.

We shall hear more of this rivalry among the Red chieftains when Stalin finally relinquishes his rule, and maybe a dozen able but hardboiled leaders compete for the Soviet dictatorship. But so long as Stalin is in the chair, there is only one boss.

It is hoped the franchise, to which as citizens they are entitled, will be extended soon to Japanese-Canadians. It would remove a blot from British Columbia which for many reasons may be regarded as the most progressive province in the Dominion.

JOINT EFFORT

London (Ont.) Free Press

The Irish, after a long period of being unable to get along with the English, are beginning to realize that it is difficult to get along without them. Accordingly, the new Prime Minister, John Costello, is visiting London to discuss trade.

An increase of trade between Britain and Eire should benefit both parties. Britain might get much-needed foodstuffs and Eire manufactured material she has not been able to produce herself.

LAST WORD

H. MARSHALL in the BBC London Letter

I like the story of the apparently rather stupid Englishman who was talking to an American in a bar in New York. They were discussing the British habit of always winning the last battle—and the American said "Say, what'll happen when the British don't win the last battle?" And the Englishman looked at him uncomprehensively for a bit, and scratched his head, and then said, "Well, but it wouldn't be the last battle then, would it?"

Orders Placed By B.C. Buyers Group Soar To $7,150,000, Says Rowebottom

Left to right: E. W. Izard, E. G. Rowebottom, B.C.'s deputy trade and industry minister; C. T. Martin and W. A. Stenner. Mr. Martin, chairman of the Vancouver Island division of the C.M.A., introduced Mr. Rowebottom, while Mr. Izard expressed the thanks of the association.

Visit of the 25-man B.C. Buyers' Delegation to the United Kingdom is already beginning to bear fruits, E. G. Rowebottom told the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association Monday night.

B.C.'s deputy trade and industry minister, one of two B.C. government representatives on the delegation, outlined the following accomplishments:

1. Orders for British goods placed by the delegates now totaled $7,150,000.

2. A textile industry will be established in B.C. as a result of contacts made while in the United Kingdom.

3. A representative of one of the largest Birmingham manufacturers now is investigating the possibility of establishing a factory in B.C.

4. Several eastern Canadian firms, visited by the delegation on the way back from Britain, are interested in building B.C. plants.

Mr. Rowebottom foresaw a big development of textile industries in British Columbia. He said a delegation of a British firm, which he did not name, was going back to Britain "sold" on the idea of establishing a plant in B.C. He indicated that the eastern firms were also interested in building textile plants in B.C.

The British delegation has visited the Felt and Textiles of Canada Ltd. plant in Victoria, he said.

"That's real results, tangible, concrete results," he said. "I really think these people mean business."

British metal trades, tanning, carpet and pulp and paper companies were also interested in building plants in B.C., he said.

EXCEEDED EXPECTATIONS

Mr. Rowebottom said that members of the delegation made 763 business contacts in Britain "and many of these contacts will produce further business in the future." He said actual purchases exceeded all expectations.

Mr. Rowebottom said that he had been told over and over again in Britain that the less B.C. bought from the United Kingdom the less the United Kingdom could buy of B.C. fruit, fish and timber.

He quoted R. F. Hanks, managing director of Morris Motors Ltd., as follows:

"It is heartening and encouraging to know that your government saw fit to send a buyers' mission to this country. We feel that we have a strong bond of affection for you as representatives of British Columbia.

Mr. Rowebottom also noted that hundreds of Britons daily were inundating B.C. House in London seeking information about emigrating to B.C. He praised the Ontario set up in London which was arranging to help prospective immigrants to that province.

Report Ike Could Not Refuse Democratic Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—A new letter from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower dealing with the subject of a possible political career was read Monday at an "Eisenhower-for-President" rally.

The general's letter made no direct reference to organized political efforts in his behalf. It said:

"When I made a public statement last January referring to a possible political career, I did it only after earnest study to determine the field in which I might possibly be of some future usefulness."

The letter was read by Elliott Roosevelt at a meeting sponsored by Americans for Democratic Action. In his formal speech which followed, Roosevelt said the general could not refuse "a true draft movement" at the Democratic National Convention.

"The American people will be sorely disappointed if the best men that our political system can produce will be a choice between Dewey, Truman and Wallace," he added.

R.V. Yacht Club Officials Worked Months On Regatta

Today as the Pacific International Yachting Association gets under way with its five-day regatta in local waters, Royal Victoria Yacht Club members can look back on half a year of preparation for the gigantic task of playing host to 200 of the Pacific northwest's most enthusiastic amateur sailors.

The months of planning and work began last December at the P.I.Y.A. meeting in Bellingham, Wash., when the Victoria Yacht Club was awarded the regatta.

Right after the New Year, 15 basic committees were formed and commitee chairmen and members numbered over 75 of the active membership of the club.

At first meetings were held monthly, but by May, as regatta time came close, the committees began to meet each week to deal with the mass of tasks which faced them.

COUNTLESS DETAILS

At these meetings there were countless details to be considered and dealt with . . . courses had to be selected, the yachts taking part in the regatta had to be divided into their various class, arrangements had to be made for registration of the vessels, for feeding and accommodating the visitors, for speeding their passage through customs and immigration. Prizes had to be provided for 80 events and arrangements had to be made for entertainment of the seniors and juniors when they were not racing their craft or watching their compatriots battle for first place in the races.

During these meetings, Capt. (E) A. C. M. Davy, O.B.E., R.C.N., sat in as liasion officer between the yacht club and the navy, which is providing course patrol vessels, a shore boat, a gate vessel. Navy craft will be used to tow sailing craft to their starting point for the races, and the navy gate vessel will serve a two-fold purpose as sleeping accommodation for 40 juniors and as the radio station which will maintain ship-to-shore contact with officials' vessels and regatta officials ashore. Navy personnel were responsible for the laying of the course markers.

Among the R.V.Y.C. officials who have been devoting a large part of their free time to making this regatta a success are:

J. L. Thacker, first officer of the Cableship Restorer, who is regatta secretary and whose job has been to handle all correspondence and act as right-hand man to Commodore Andrew Wright, regatta chairman.

Dr. R. J. Wride, chairman of the house committee, who with his sub-committees, has arranged for everything ashore, from the lighting to meals and accommodation.

Jack Lindsay, whose foreshore committee has been responsible for provision of additional floats and all the general preparations needed at the foreshore.

Col. P. Broome and Humphrey Golby, whose sailing committee has had the task of laying out courses, deciding who will race where and when, and who will brief the visitors on their courses, tabulate the results and, in general, look after all matters pertaining to the racing.

Frank Ohrt, who has charge of the two judges' vessels and all the judges, starters and timekeepers.

Ed Learch and Harry Gladwell, who are in charge of all power boat events, shore boats and towboats.

C. J. Harrington, who has handled the regatta publicity.

Today, as visitors look at the club, the results of the work can be seen. Signal flags line the shore and the floats, floodlights are ready to light the whole of the club grounds at night; in front of the clubhouse fly the bargees of every club in the P.I.Y.A.; down on the bay rest many of the club's vessels bright in new coats of paint and as shipshape as pride and ability can make them.

BLACKHEADS

Don't squeeze blackheads — dissolve them. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store and apply gently with wet, hot cloth over the blackheads. They simply dissolve and disappear by this safe simple method.

Fine Weather Greets Yachtsmen As Colorful Regatta Opens Here

With sails furled, yachts of the Pacific International Yachting Association lie at anchor in Bedwell Harbor in silent anticipation of the week's racing which will highlight the regatta here. To the left is the navy's M.L. 124, acting as one of the official ships for the event.

Safely arrived at the rendezvous, this trio of sailors take time out to bask in the bright sunshine as the waters of the harbor form a pleasant backdrop.

Graceful sails, ekeing motion out of a scant breeze, marked the opening of the Pacific International Yachting Association regatta here Monday afternoon.

A brilliant sun lit the hillsides of Pender Island surrounding the Bedwell Harbor rendezvous as vessels converged on the area from east and west.

Many of the sailboats gallantly stuck to their sails to make anchorage, but others found the wind too light and used their auxiliary motors.

Among the early arrivals was Commodore Andrew Wright of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and regatta chairman, who busied himself journeying to the various yachts to greet the visitors.

As the 7 o'clock deadline for the predicted log races neared, a winner made his appearance at the harbor mouth. It was the powerful little cabin cruiser Snuffy, owned and skippered by Frank Morris of Everett, Wash., who scudded to the finish line just 36 seconds ahead of the finish time.

Stubby winner of the predicted log race for the Hathaway Cup was Snuffy, owned by Frank Morris, Everett, at right. In the cockpit of the motor boat is Cmdr. Don Hesler, U.S. Coast Guard (Ret'd), who made the trip as official observer.

With him, Mr. Morris carried Cmdr. Don Hesler, U.S. Coast Guard (Retd.), who made the journey from the U.S. side as official observer.

As the evening wore on, the yachts and cabin cruisers swung gently at anchor as they prepared for today, which will see the first sailboat races of the regatta.

Shoreside lay the official boat where officials registered the visitors and customs and immigration officials made their check.

One of the busiest vessels of a busy fleet was E. N. Liersch's 38-foot diesel cabin cruiser Kit-Gard, which carried C. J. Harrington, regatta publicity officer, and a party of newspapermen and photographers across the Bedwell Harbor from Canoe Cove to cover the opening of the regatta.

Another busy member of the fleet was 14-year-old Richard Nash, skippering his father's high-speed launch, who was called on for innumerable chores from chasing out on emergency calls to ferrying the press party back to Canoe Cove in the evening.

Today, the regatta settles down to business and the first race started at 10 this morning, to be followed by other classes leaving at five-minute intervals up until 10.30.

They are racing for the Corinthian Yacht Club Trophy and the Key City Trophy and have an eight-hour time limit for the long distance race.

The social events and main body of the races for both small and large sailing craft will wait until Wednesday before they get under way.

Mr. And Mrs. D. Thorburn Join Ranks Of Newlyweds

Two more names were added to the list of June newlyweds Saturday evening when Phyllis Marie "Sherry" Bayliss became the bride of David Devlin Thorburn.

Rev. W. R. Ashford read the nuptial service in Centennial United Church, uniting in marriage the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bayliss and the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorburn, Harrison St.

Ruffles of lace showed under the skirt of the white satin gown chosen by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. A slight train extended from the full skirt, which was caught up with satin rosettes, and the same rosette design outlined the neckline with its inset net yoke.

A coronet trimmed with seed pearls held her veil of illusion net, and she wore a single strand of pearles. Her shower bouquet was of pink rosebuds and sweet peas.

Also in old-fashioned theme were the gowns of the bridesmaids and flower girl. Sisters of the bride, Miss Joyce Bayliss and Miss Patricia Bayliss, wore similar gowns of peach and blue satin respectively, with matching heart-shaped headdresses of lace straw. They carried bouquets of sweetheart roses.

For her flower girl role, the bride's little cousin, Miss Sharon Mauro, was dressed in pale yellow taffeta and carried a basket of flowers and rose petals.

Fred Smith served as best man and ushers were Frank Gower, Bob Irwin and David Bayliss, brother of the bride.

During the signing of the register Miss Bernice Fawcett sang "With This Ring I Do Thee Wed."

The home of the bride's parents, at 345 Foul Bay Road, was the scene of a reception following the ceremony, when Mrs. Bayliss and Mrs. Thorburn welcomed the 250 guests with the young couple. The bride and groom cut the three-tier wedding cake, which was surrounded with white tulle and rosebuds in the centre of the bride's table. Albert Smith proposed the toast to the bride.

As she left for a honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, the bride was wearing a burgundy gabardine suit with pale blue hat and accessories. Her topcoat was grey, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and sweetheart roses completed her ensemble.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Thorburn will return to live in Victoria.

In compliment to Miss Marjorie Boorman, bride-elect of this week, members of St. Aidan's United Church Choir gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cook, 1280 Union Avenue. Corsage bouquets were presented to Miss Boorman, her mother, Mrs. Percy Boorman, and to Mrs. Ken Sturgeon, mother of the groom-elect. On behalf of the choir members, Mr. Frank Jennings, conductor, presented Miss Boorman with a silver sugar, cream and tray set, after which the bride-elect opened her many gifts. A musical program was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Jack Ritz and Mrs. Helen Burkholder. Guests were Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Griffiths, Mr. and Mrs. W. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. K. Sturgeon, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Boorman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wharfe, Mr. and Mrs. C. Springer, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lindsay, Long Beach, Calif.; Mesdames K. Rix, Barbara Brown, Davies, Sr., E. Boorman, Dobson, W. Hill, D. L. Gilbert, H. Tibbett, and Misses Valerie Turnbull, Shirley Lundy, M. Thorpe, G. Deighton, and Messrs. Frank Jennings and Jack Griffiths.

Taffeta And Lace For Wedding Gown

White French lace over taffeta was chosen by Lorraine Kathleen Ouelette for her marriage Saturday evening to Kenneth Fredrick Grabham.

Rev. S. J. Wickens read the nuptial service in St. Mathias' Church, and J. W. A. Green gave the bride in marriage.

Over her attractive gown cascaded a floor-length veil, which was held in place by a pearl-studded halo. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses.

Her two attendants were her sister, Miss Margaret Ouelette, and Miss Marion Taylor, who were gowned in pink and blue respectively, and carried colonial bouquets of sweet peas. George Lifton was best man, and James Ouelette served as usher.

Following the reception, which was held at the home of Mrs. J. B. A. Bartin, 2168 Guernsey Street, Mr. and Mrs. Grabham left for an extended trip in the south.

For traveling, the bride wore a grey three-piece ensemble with red accessories.

Kay Rendle Weds Louis J. McBeth

Vancouver will be the future home of Louis Joseph McBeth and his bride, the former Kathleen Ernestine Rendle, who exchanged marriage vows before Father D. K. Lehane in the Bishop's Close Saturday evening.

For the 8 o'clock ceremony, the bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rendle, Kisber Avenue, chose an afternoon dress of dusty rose crepe. It was fashioned with a long torso effect over a knife-pleated skirt, and buttoned to the waist at the back. With it she wore a navy blue straw hat trimmed with a taffeta bow, and navy accessories.

Her corsage bouquet was of white gardenias and pink rosebuds, and she wore the groom's gift of a gold locket. Mr. Rendle gave his daughter in marriage.

As bridesmaid for her brother's bride, Miss Violet McBeth wore a brown crepe dress in ballerina style trimmed with a pink taffeta Peter Pan collar. Her halo hat was of beige straw and was trimmed with a brown taffeta bow. She wore beige and brown accessories.

The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McBeth, had his brother, Conrad McBeth, as best man. His cousin, Albert Lawson, served as usher.

Mrs. Rendle and Mrs. McBeth assisted the couple in welcoming guests at a reception held at the Goblin Hall. A three-tier wedding cake stood in the centre of the bride's table and was surrounded by pink tulle. W. A. Smith proposed the toast to the bride.

For her traveling costume the bride wore a navy coat trimmed with grey wolf collar over her wedding ensemble.

Nursing School Experiment May Answer Nurse Shortage

SACKVILLE, N.B. (CP)—Out of an experiment in nursing education now under way at Windsor, Ont., may come an answer to Canada's nurse shortage.

Through the Metropolitan School of Nursing, which opened in Windsor last January, the Canadian Nurses' Association hopes to prove that in an institution which is organized and financed apart from the administration of a hospital, the three-year training period of nurses can be cut by approximately one-third.

"The present course is set up for 25 months," said Miss N. D. Fidler, director of the school.

At present the school has 13 students and a waiting list of 72 would-be nurses from every province in the Dominion.

"From that it is quite clear that girls going in training are choosing between the two programs—they are anxious to nurse, but not under the old conditions," said Miss Fidler.

The Canadian Red Cross Society has made a grant of $40,000 annually for four years to the C.N.A. project.

"This amount will go toward the maintenance of the student nurses," said Miss Fidler, pointing out that under the old hospital-training system the students received their maintenance from the hospital.

At the Windsor School the students take such practical training as they require at the 150-bed Metropolitan Hospital. For their lectures they attend classes elsewhere.

Y.W.C.A. Begins Summer Activities

The "Swing Into Summer" program of the Y.W.C.A., began Saturday with the first outing of the season, a trip aboard the cabin cruiser Songhee.

Esquimalt Harbor was visited, then the cruiser followed the shoreline past William Head, Race Rocks and around Rocky Point.

In the evening the Y.W.C.A. group went ashore for supper around a bonfire. Games were played and the group explored the vicinity before reboarding the cruiser to return at midnight.

The next trip scheduled on the "summer program" will be an afternoon outing at Shawnigan Lake, to take place July 11. A bus will leave the "Y" at 1.30 to return at 10 p.m. Reservations must be made early, and further information may be obtained at the Y.W.C.A.

Veranda Entertaining — This summer keep a good supply of fruit juices chilling in the refrigerator. Tangy chilled apricot whole fruit nector is very refreshing. Serve it with a squeezed lemon wedge and with or without ice as you prefer. Miniature-sized ginger snaps are popular with this.

Hillington Plan Urged To Attract New Plants To B.C.

The industrial estates plan, in which standardized factory buildings are erected to attract new light industries to Scotland, was recommended Monday night by E. G. Rowebottom, deputy trade minister for B.C., for the industrial development of B.C.

Hillington, a 320-acre, 120-factory industrial estate four miles from Glasgow, which will ultimately cost $30,000,000 and provide employment for 24,000 persons, was described by Mr. Rowebottom to the Vancouver Island branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association Monday night. Mr. Rowebottom visited the estate with the B.C. Buyers' Delegation last month.

The estate, one of 10 or 12 undertaken in Scotland in a drive to get new light industries to supplement heavy industries, is subsidized by the government through guarantees of 1939 rents. After the factories have been erected industries all over the nation are invited to establish plants there. The development in Hillington was started in 1938.

"The government of this great province and cities anywhere could well afford to adopt such a policy," said Mr. Rowebottom. "I'll go further and say that private industries could adopt such a policy on a profit-basis, of course."

Railway Crossing Changes Approved

Removal of manually-operated signals at the Russell Street-Esquimalt Road crossing of the E. and N. Railway, and installation of an automatic signal, is facilitated in an order of the Board of Transport Commissioners received today at the City Hall.

Cost of the new system will be borne, 45 per cent by the city and 55 per cent by the railway company. It will be comprised of two flashing lights and a bell and will do away with gates which are placed across the street, and a signal tower. It also will dispense with the employing of a watchman.

The order of the board also restricts the speed of trains in the vicinity of the crossing to 10 miles an hour.

Life In Old-Time Victoria Recalled By Herbert Kent

First white twins to be born in Victoria, Mrs. T. C. (Harriet) Hubbard, left, and Mrs. E. G. (Susan) Youngs, right, were guests of Alderman Frank Mulliner. The sisters are now 81 years of age.

Oldest old-timer among those attending the party was Mrs. Louise Luscombe, who will be 95 next month. Mrs. Luscombe came to Victoria 72 years ago. Her husband was for many years gardener at Government House here. Walter S. Miles, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, was Mrs. Luscombe's host at the luncheon.

For those passed the three score year and ten mark, it brought back memories and for others it was a lesson in history when Herbert Kent, a resident of Victoria for the past 84 years, addressed a luncheon meeting of old-timers Friday noon in the Empress Hotel.

The luncheon was tendered by the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce for persons living in this city for 70 years or over. The meeting was attended by some 56 oldsters, the average age being 77.

Mr. Kent recalled coming from England with his mother in 1864. They crossed the Atlantic by steamer; crossed the Panama by rail; sailed to San Francisco, and then proceeded by steamer to Esquimalt. The whole trip took six weeks.

"We were fortunate in getting here in the time that we did," Mr. Kent observed. "Persons coming around the Horn had a journey of from four to six months."

Recalling boyhood memories, Mr. Kent observed that what is now Beacon Hill Park was once a swamp.

"It was almost impossible to get through, but it could be done if you didn't mind getting your boots muddy."

A race track was put in the park close to where the Douglas Street football field is today. Horse and trotting races used to be held regularly and there was a large grandstand on the site for spectators, the speaker said.

It was not odd to see 60 head of cattle being driven through the main streets of the city, Mr. Kent said. Cattle would be shipped by steamer from New Westminster; landed at the foot of Bastion Street, driven up Wharf to Yates Street to a slaughter house.

"You used to have to run for shelter when you saw them coming," Mr. Kent said. "There were always some getting out of line and breaking down fences."

HACKS WERE POPULAR

Hacks were a popular mode of transportation in Victoria in the olden days, Mr. Kent noted. Their drivers used to line up down the centre of Government Srteet and wait to pick up fares.

"Visitors to the city always used to think there was a funeral procession going on when they'd see all the hacks in a line," he said.

Gas lights were used for street illumination and horse-drawn wagons traveled the streets, sprinkling water in an attempt to lay the dust.

"Water for drinking and household purposes was delivered to your door and you paid for it so much a bucket," Mr. Kent said.

For a long time, the smallest coins used in Victoria were ten-cent pieces.

"If you wanted something which was selling for a bit and you only had a two-bit coin, you would only get ten cents change," he said.

Victoria High School was a two-room log cabin on the same grounds as Central School. It was staffed by two.

"We were taught and taught well at that school," Mr. Kent said.

Walter S. Miles, president of the Chamber of Commerce, thanked the speaker. The meeting was presided over by G. I. Edgelow, chairman of the chamber's tourist trade group.

Recommend N.L.R.B. Hold I.T.U. Guilty Of Unfair Practices

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Labor Relations Board lawyers Monday recommended an N.L.R.B. trial examiner hold the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.) guilty of unfair labor practices in its dealings with newspapers throughout the United States.

Allen Sinsheimer Jr. and Carroll Martin, acting for N.L.R.B. general counsel Robert Denham, made the recommendations as a suggested order by N.L.R.B. trial examiner Arthur Leff.

Leff presided over six-month-long hearings on charges brought against the I.T.U. and its officers, including Union President Woodruff Randolph, by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' Association.

The testimony and briefs, as well as the recommended order filed Monday, will be considered by Leff in making his report to the N.L.R.B. The case probably will be considered by the five-man N.L.R.B. itself eventually.

The I.T.U. and its officers have been restrained by a federal court injunction, obtained March 27, against continuing the alleged unfair labor practices involved in the case until Leff and the N.L.R.B. have a chance to pass on them.

The N.L.R.B. lawyers asked Leff to tell the union to call off any strikes or slowdowns it or its locals may be carrying on in an effort to enforce conditions of employmet which violate the Taft-Hartley Act.

The I.T.U. local at Chicago has been on strike for more than seven months against daily newspapers there.

Government To Study Writing Off Taxes Of Flooded Farmers

OTTAWA (CP) — George Cruickshank, Lib., Fraser Valley, suggested Monday night in the Commons that the government write off the income tax owed for 1947 by people in the flood-devastated areas of the Fraser River valley.

Revenue Minister McCann promised to bring the suggestion to the attention of the government.

Dr. McCann said his department had not the power to order such a write-off.

Mr. Cruickshank said some farmers had been given 15 days by the revenue department to pay income tax arrears even though their farms are under eight feet of water. He asked if the revenue department had power to waive payment of the arrears or to delay payments.

Dr. McCann said his department could delay payments, but it could not waive payments. He said the cases of farmers in the Fraser River valley were under review.

"I am sure anyone who has suffered any great damage will be dealt with in as humane a way as possible," he said.

Toronto Entertainer Pays On Gallows For Shooting Woman

TORONTO (CP) — Leslie R. Davidson, 29, was hanged in the Don Jail here today for the fatal shooting last March 1 of his sweetheart, 25-year-old Mrs. Margaret C. (Mickey) Meredith.

Jail officials reported the Montreal-born pianist and entertainer was calm and resigned during his last hours in the death cell. One of his final acts was to write his estranged wife, Mrs. Freda Davidson, a farewell note.

Police said Davidson, wild with jealousy, fired several shots into the head of Mrs. Meredith as she worked in a Queen Street West restaurant near the City Hall in central Toronto. The girl died 10 days later in a hospital.

Immediately after the shooting, Davidson dashed through the back door of the restaurant and down a lane. Police who arrested him a few hours later in a west-end club said they found him playing "Pretty Mickey" on a piano.

During his last days Davidson was a model prisoner. He spent part of his time composing a hymn. His spiritual adviser, Maj. A. B. MacMillan of the Salvation Army, said:

"He has said all along that he deserves his punishment, that he was led on by a woman who had great influence over him. But he is happy and content and he is not afraid to die."

Playground School Highly Successful

The Playground School, which was held under the auspices of the Department of Physical Education and Recreation Council of Greater Victoria, was highly successful. The total registration was 66, made up as follows: Playground supervisors 32, volunteer helpers 21, interested visitors 13. Among the visitors was a Brownie leader, Miss Jean Meader, from Ketchikan, Alaska. The entire expense of the institute was borne by the education department. Leaders felt that they had been given a great deal of help and inspiration, but that the time was too short and indications are that a longer period will be spent in such training next year.

Sees Tech School Finished By 1949

The Greater Victoria School Board is anticipating completion of the technical workshop, now under construction on the grounds of Victoria High School, by January, 1949, it has been announced by J. F. K. English, municipal inspector.

To serve students who will enroll in the motor mechanics class to be started in September, however, steps have been taken in conjunction with the technical branch of the Department of Education to use the Kings Road School, just west of Quadra, until the new technical unit is ready for occupancy.

Pioneers To Sing Western Ballads

Fifteen years ago, three young musicians banded together to become one of the most famous group of singers and instrumentalists ever known in the field of western music. They called themselves the "Sons of the Pioneers" a name that was singularly appropriate for a western group.

As a group, the "Pioneers," coming Friday to the York Theatre, are credited by music critics with having collected and preserved the best of the songs of the Old West, and have in addition contributed many new tunes of their own which take their place in folk music.

Add that maestro of the piano, Jose Iturbi, playing his first romantic role, and fast-rising singing-starlet Jane Powell with a new flock of songs, and you have a picture containing all the ingredients for perfect entertainment.

YORK THEATRE

Royalty as a career may not offer much in the way of security or a future these days but for story-telling purposes it offers infinite possibilities as Warner Bros. merrily prove in their newest film vomedy, "Two Guys From Milwaukee," the Dennis Morgan-Jack Carson-Joan Leslie starring picture currently at the York Theatre.

ODEON THEATRE

"The End of the River" is a work in the real tradition of British films. Even in the days of Hollywood ascendancy, British film-makers were supreme in the sphere of reality; their "documentary" pictures created a new artistic level in the cinema. "The End of the River" is now showing at the Odeon Theatre and stars Sabu, Raymond Lovell and James Hayter.

ATLAS THEATRE

Paulette Goddard is just about the only film star extant who admits that she broke into the movies simply by going up to a producer and asking for a screen test. It required a great deal of confidence on her part, confidence which turned out to be amply justified by her record number of hits which is now climaxed by her appearance in "An Ideal Husband," the new Twentieth Century-Fox release photographed in color by Technicolor, and now at the Atlas Theatre.

Canada Safe Bet To Be Awarded Empire Games

LONDON (CP) — Canadian Olympic officials, scheduled to arrive here in July, can be confident that the senior Dominion will be awarded the next British Empire Games.

But where in Canada to hold them is a problem.

The Canadian Olympic Committee, working in conjunction with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, offered the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto the games but the C.N.E. refused to sponsor the event.

So far, no offer has been made to any other Canadian city.

Nevertheless, there's a lot of "behind-the-scenes" plugging for the Dominion going on in London and one qualified source told the Canadian Press: "It's in the bag." It is up to Canada to make the bid.

LAST HELD IN 1938

Revival of the games, last held in Sydney, Australia, in 1938, is scheduled to 1950, but the informant said this would be "almost impossible" due to the staging of the European Games that year.

Delegates from the Commonwealth countries will get together during the Olympics to decide the issue, "and if Canada wants to hold the games, it will get every support from English and Scottish representatives," the informant said.

He discounted chances of New Zealand and Australia because "the last games went to that part of the world" and squashed any hope of South Africa getting them "because of the negro question in that country."

RIO THEATRE

"Follow That Woman," Paramount's newest comedy-thriller, with the accent on thrills, is entertaining audiences at the Rio Theatre. This is another Pine-Thomas production and one that is in keeping with the high standards established in their action films.

William Gargan and Nancy Kelly are co-starred. The supporting cast includes Regis Toomey, Byron Barr, Ed Gargan and Don Costello.

Alaska Highway To Get Improved Mail Service

According to word received by Postfaster John B. Sinclair at the Victoria Post Office, Monday, plans have been completed for inauguration of an improved mail service to all residents along the Alaska Highway, beginning July 1.

There are many mail communities spread out along the entire course of the highway from Dawson Creek, B.C., to the Alaska-Yukon border, some 1,200 miles with perhaps no more than half a dozen post offices along the entire route, Mr. Sinclair said.

Under the new arrangements which have been completed with the British Yukon Navigation Company, who operate a semi-weekly bus service on the highway, the mail will be conveyed not only to and from post offices, but in addition will be delivered and picked up at all communities along the highway located between the post offices and which do not have direct mail service at the present time.

Registered mail, C.O.D. articles, newspapers and parcel post, as well as letter mail, will be delivered to, or picked up from, a designated representative in each community by the bus drivers, who will also carry a stock of postage stamp booklets for the convenience of the residents. Individual stamps will not be sold because of the difficulty in handling. Bus drivers will also take orders for money orders, which will be purchased at the post offices and mailed to the purchasers.

Trans-Canada Road Question Before City Council Soon

City Council will consider at its next meeting a week from today a resolution passed by the Calgary City Council in which the federal government is asked to establish a Dominion highway commission to study the problems of constructing a Trans-Canada Highway system.

The Calgary council says in the resolution, the plan is not asked for as a means of relieving unemployment but as an economic necessity to unite the nine provinces of the Dominion.

At one time the federal government said it did not intend to proceed with a Trans-Canada Highway project until it was necessary to provide work to relieve unemployment.

The Calgary council believes it best for organizations throughout Canada first to press for a highway and later make representations as to the best route the highway should follow.

Too Much Security In Russia Refugee Skipper Tells Gyros

Back in July, 1944, the news that the captain of a Russian merchant vessel had jumped ship in Vancouver caused considerable publicity.

The city of Victoria had, a week previously, presented this captain with a desk ink stand to be carried to the mayor of Sevastopol as a goodwill gesture between the two cities.

Monday the Victoria Gyro Club heard this same captain, who is now known as George Levich, tell what made him decide to jump ship, an act which meant he could never return to Russia.

Speaking with a broad accent (he has learned his English only in the past four years), Capt. Levich said that there is "too much security" in Russia.

NO CHANGING JOBS

"Everyone is in a straight-jacket," said the stocky skipper, "once you are in a job, you must stay there—there is no such thing as changing jobs."

ADVISED TO WRITE

Capt. Levich told of his own experience when a first officer in the Russian merchant marine. The secret police "invited" him in for a talk and advised him to write for his master's certificate.

"Such invitations must be heeded," he said, "if you have the ability you must use it as fully as possible or go to jail, where you will work for nothing. Of course, propaganda twists the facts, but there is no such thing as a free man in Russia."

In answer to a number of questions from Gyro members, the Crimean-born speaker, now an American citizen, noted that in his 36 years in Russia he never saw a man who was in sympathy with the Communist regime. "You can't do anything about it or you will be arrested," he commented. "You just work for one employer—the state."

STALIN LEADER

Capt. Levich believes that there must be some sort of organized resistance to the Communist party in Russia, and he is of the opinion that Stalin, with his Georgian traits, is the leader of the government in fact as well as in name.

As captain of a ship Capt. Levich received approximately the equivalent of $450 per month in Canadian money, but in Russia all he was able to buy was a pair of shoes or 100 bottle of milk with it.

"There is no such thing as justice," he stated in answer to a question, "I never saw a man acquitted, once arrested."

Regarding his own safety Capt. Levich claimed he is not afraid but "cautious."

"You are not afraid of something you hold in contempt," he commented.

HAPPY COUNTRY

The chain-smoking skipper recalled that on his previous visit to Victoria he spoke to a service club and stated that Canada was "a happy country." The next day a Russian government official was on the ship, waving a newspaper report of the talk and warning him to watch his step.

Of his escape and how he got into the American Army and later the American merchant marine, the captain would say little. "I don't want to cause any trouble," was his answer.

The guest speaker was introduced by Gyro William J. Clark.

May Change Timing On Traffic Lights

The question of Douglas Street traffic signals is before civic officials again, and some improvements in clearance of traffic may result.

Ald. Frank Mulliner, chairman of the street lights committee, said recommendations will be made to the Police Commission on changes suggested.

He explained that because blocks in the busy section of Douglas Street are of uneven lengths, it is impossible to synchronize the traffic signals to allow traffic to proceed through, in both directions, without being "caught" by a red light.

"We have studied this problem thoroughly, and it is difficult when you have to take into consideration pedestrian traffic as well as motor vehicle movement," he said.

But he believes that citizens would welcome a timing of the lights which would allow non-stop southbound traffic in the morning, and non-stop traffic northward in the evening rush hours.

Prize-Winners In Rifle Meet

MAJ. L. C. WILLOUGHBY SGT. A. E. ASHE SGT. ARTHUR SHERWIN

In the 64th annual prize meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association, which concluded at Heals Range Saturday, these three marksmen carried off major honors. Willoughby, member of the Seaforth Highlanders, won the grand aggregate and B.C. championship; Ashe, competing under the colors of the Canadian Scottish, took the prized Lieutenant-Governor's match, and Sherwin of the 5th B.C. Coast Regiment earlier in the week posted a through-the-ranges triple possible to win the British Consols No. 1 match. Sherwin broke all previous records with his perfect score.

A's Boost Averages During Home Stand

Wilson Over 100-Hit Mark; Buccola, Jensen, Kubiak Make Big Gains

Archie Wilson, Victoria centrefielder, is the first player in the Western International Baseball League to get 100 hits this season. Wilson picked up 14 blows in last week's successful home stand to raise his total for the season to 103 and at the same time to jump his average nine points from .352 to .361.

Included in Wilson's list of blows are 15 two-baggers, 13 triples and 13 home runs, three of which he garnered in one game last week.

Vic Buccola also showed a big jump in his batting average for the seven games as he moved from .236 to .256 for a 20-point gain. Babe Jensen continues to improve his mark which now stands at .330, a 10-point bulge over his average on June 20.

Lou Kubiak, who got off to a bad start this year, is rapidly finding the range again. Kubiak was the fifth member of the regulars to show an improvement with an increase of nine percentage points from .246 to .255.

Jack Palmer, who leads the club in doubles with 18, fell off one point as did Sal Recca. Charlie Balassi gained a point for little change.

Catcher-outfielder Dick Morgan got off to a promising start in his debut with the A's and sports a .300 mark for his few appearances at the plate.

PITCHERS HIT WELL

In Jim Propst and Del Owens the club has also got a pair of pretty fair stickers. Propst is batting at an amazing .344 while Owens with two home runs and two doubles to his credit is at .303.

Joe Blankenship moved well out in front as the club's leading pitcher with three victories during the week. Owens won two games with Propst and Kasparovitch getting the others. Blankenship now has 11 wins as against four defeats.

Averages of regulars including games of Saturday, June 26, follow:

	AB	R	H	RBI	Pct.
Wilson	285	55	103	61	.361
Jensen	232	46	77	43	.330

Australia Wins Test As England Collapses

LONDON (Reuter)—Australia today defeated England by 409 runs in the second cricket test match at Lord's. The tourists also won the first match, at Nottingham.

England's 10th and last wicket in the second innings fell just after lunch for a score of 186. England's first-innings score was 215, while Australia scored 350 in the first innings and 460 for seven wickets, declared, in the second.

The end came in the third over after lunch when Douglas Wright, England bowler, was caught off a ball by fast-bowler Lindwall.

The result was a foregone conclusion when play started this morning with England needing 490 runs with seven wickets to fall. But what was not expected, was England's complete collapse.

Dennis Compton was out to the second ball of the day to a catch by Miller and the English captain, Norman Yardley, was bowled by Ernest Toshack.

The remaining wickets then fell cheaply.

Toshack had the best figures of the Australian bowlers in the second innings, getting five wickets for 40 runs.

Marathon Series Test Contenders In Coast Baseball

This is the week when anything can happen in the Coast League, and probably will.

It's the week of the marathon nine-game series all around the loop winding up with July 4 and 5 doubleheaders. It's the week that will tell whether the leading San Francisco Seals are slipping or just catching their wind for the second half of the campaign.

The Seals take on the Los Angeles Angels who are in second place by only a slim game and who have beaten San Francisco five games to three in their previous mixes this year.

If Seal manager Lefty O'Doul can best his L.A. pursuers this week at Wrigley Field in Los Angeles he can breathe a little easier, except—Casey Stengel's Oakland Oaks are also only a game behind, in a virtual tie with Los Angeles, and the Oaks entertain the Hollywood Stars.

Fourth-place San Diego entertains cellar-dwelling Sacramento, giving the Padres a chance to do a little overhauling of the leaders on their own hook. The same applies to the fifth-place Seattle Rainiers, who are still within shouting distance of the top spot (four and one-half games), and who play seventh-place Portland this week.

Athletics Nipped By Bremerton In Thriller

The Athletics seven-game winning streak came to an end last night as "hard-luck" Bill Harmsen dropped a 2 to 1 decision to Bremerton Bluejackets at the Navy Yard town.

Victoria's loss combined with Vancouver's 7 to 5 victory over Tacoma Tigers at Tacoma dropped the A's into fourth place and moved the Capilanos from fourth to third in the race for the pennant. Bremerton now trail the Tigers by three and one-half games.

Rookie hurler, Nino Barnise, making his second start for the Bluejackets since joining the club from the University of Southern California, was the lad who stopped the A's last night besting Harmsen in a pitcher's duel in which each hurler allowed but six hits.

Winning run was scored by Bremerton in the last half of the eighth inning when Snag Moore doubled and Eddie Samcoff singled him home.

Bremerton took a one-run lead in the fifth after Victoria had failed to score in their half of the inning when Archie Wilson was left stranded after opening with a triple.

The A's tied the score in the sixth on Jack Palmer's triple and Wilson's single. Wilson and Palmer paced the locals at the plate, each with two for four, with Kubiak and Gilmore getting the other bingles.

SALEM FINALLY WINS

Salem's slipping Senators who had the dubious record of compiling the season's longest losing streak—13 games—snapped out of their power dive to the cellar by burying Spokane, 15 to 9. Seven Spokane errors helped the Salem cause.

In edging Tacoma, Vancouver halted the Tigers latest win streak at eight games but the Caps got the advantage of a fluke home run in the ninth inning by Charlie Mead. Mead's lazy fly ball with one man on base escaped right fielder Dick Greco, who lost the ball in the haze and it went for four bases and what proved to be the ball game. Vancouver outhit the Tigers, 16 to 7. Carl Gunnarson was the winner.

Yakima defeated Wenatchee, 4 to 2, to climb within a game and a half of the seventh place Chiefs in their battle for the league cellar. The Packers broke a 1 to 1 tie in the fifth inning with two runs on a base on balls and singles by Ray French and Jim Estrada. It was Wenatchee's 22nd defeat in 25 starts.

The Athletics play Bremerton again tonight and tomorrow night returning home for a five-game set with Tacoma here beginning July 1 with a double-header.

Short scores follow:

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER returning to the Pacific coast in his new job as coach of the Tacoma club in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, Murray Patrick looks to have grabbed off a fine hockey position with the Washington outfit. Under the existing set-up the Tacoma arena and hockey franchise are owned by a contractor and plumber and they are prepared to turn their entire operations over to Murray. In other words he will be Mr. Hockey next winter in the city of Tacoma. Muzz realizes he is headed for a big job but it follows the same pattern as his position with St. Paul in the United States Hockey League.

UNTIL HE FAMILIARIZES himself with the hockey situation in Tacoma, Patrick is not in a position to outline his plans for the coming winter. "All I can say right now is that the Tacoma interests have really gone out of their way to give me a first class deal and I consider myself fortunate to get such a break so early in my career as a hockey executive." Murray said. There is every possibility that Patrick will line up a working agreement for Tacoma with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League although he refused to be quoted on such a move.

WORD FROM OFFICIALS of the B.C. Turf and Country Club is that several new jockeys will make their appearance at Lansdowne track for the opening of the British Columbia racing season tomorrow. Already on the scene are Hank Williams, rider for the stable of Dr. L. H. Appleby; J. C. Hamilton, expected to have the mounts of Jack Pattison's Pacific Farms Stable; Marvin Moncrief, young apprentice from the Florida stable of Butler and Howard and Sid Martin, rider for George Irvine who was at the mainland track for one race last summer.

OTHER NEW RIDERS were scheduled to report in daily to join the list of popular hard boots already on hand. Busy at Lansdowne track every morning are Bobby Summers, Ray Stoddard, D. Nowell, D. Beasley, Willie Slocum, Johnny Hruschak, D. Millman, T. Johnson, K. Copperknoll and A. Stein.

Leg-Weary Robinson Decisions Docusen

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson's 15-round decision over young Bernie Docusen to retain his welterweight boxing crown is the story of a steak.

The machine-like New York slugger starved himself for two days to make the 147-pound weight limit. Then after tipping the scales at 146½ in yesterday's weigh-in, he drank a quart of beef broth and gnawed through a two-pound broiled steak. This was his first solid food in 48 hours of forced dehydration to shed four or five pounds.

That hunk of beef did it. During most of last night's title defence in Comiskey Park against the 145½-pound, 21-year-old New Orleans challenger—six years his junior—Robinson was a blur of power and precision. He had to be to beat the deadpan, polished little Filipino who made the champion go the route. The decision was unanimous.

When, and if, Robinson vacates the welterweight bracket, you can put Docusen down as one of the best bets to succeed him.

DOCUSEN GOES DOWN

Robinson emerged from the scrap a leg-weary, thoroughly tired champion. After having the ninth round taken away from him for hitting low, he opened up in the 10th and Docusen for the first time gave ground in a furious exchange. In the 11th, Robinson nailed his opponent for a nine count with a left hook to the chin. It was the first time the youngster had been floored in a span of 58 victories in 60 bouts.

Docusen, however, refused to be the champion's 59th knockout victim in a remarkable record of 88 triumphs. He struggled up at the count of nine and stumbled into another vicious volley. But Robinson was so worn down from the flurry he couldn't finish him. Docusen brought the slim crowd of 8,883 to its feet cheering by lashing back. He battled the titleholder to a standstill until the bell.

The show, twice postponed, was put on by promoter Irving Kovin. He reported a gross of $45,640.24 and a net of $35,107.88. Unofficially, it was said he had to gross from $60,000 to $70,000 to break even.

Robinson collected 25 per cent, $8,776, and Docusen pocketed 20 per cent, $7,021.

Barwis' Single Gives Navy Nine Win Over Eagles

Going hitless in his first four trips to the plate, Dick Barwis, Navy second baseman, came through with the game-winning bingle in the last of the ninth to give Tars a close 8 to 7 victory over Eagles in the most exciting senior ball game this season.

Birdmen nicked workhorse Jeff Worrell for a pair of tallies in the opening stanza on a single, Toad Garnet's triple and an outfield fly, but bluejackets replied with a trio in their half, mainly on the strength of four Eagles' errors. Navy went ahead 4 to 2 in the second when Worrell tripled and scored on an outfield fly.

Losers counted a singleton in the top of the fifth as Evans doubled and Garnet clouted his second three-bagger and tied the game with an unearned tally in the sixth. Eagles took a one-run lead in the seventh, but Navy squared the affair again.

HITS HOME RUN

Eagles looked like the winners in the eighth when Evans doubled and Garnet, on a hitting spree, lined the ball over the wall for two runs, but again Navy tied the game as Eagles committed three errors. In the last of the ninth, Ken Bleich drew a life on Garnet's error and stole second and third. Stan Davies walked Ivan Wood and Tommy Deakin, and Barwis came through in the clutch to decide the issue.

Tonight at Athletic Park, Ben's Bombers will play host to Boosters, starting at 7.

Short score follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Eagles	7	15	8
Navy	8	9	4

Davies and Bertrand; Worrell and Kubicek.

Williams-Musial Set Blistering Bat Pace

CHICAGO (AP)—Only the immortal Ty Cobb and George Sisler ever finished an American League batting race higher than the scorching .415 with which Boston's Ted Williams now is setting the pace.

Continuing his amazing climb at a time of the season when the pitchers usually are ahead of the batters, Williams last week surged four percentage points with nine hits in 20 trips to the plate.

That put him 52 points ahead of runner-up Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's manager-shortstop, who had .363.

Cobb, in 1911, and Sisler, in 1922, posted the highest batting percentage in the American League, .420.

In 217 trips, Williams has belted 90 hits.

Williams also leads in four specialized departments. He is tops in runs-batted-in with 69, a week's increase of 10. He leads in hits with 90, in runs-scored with 59 and two-baggers with 19.

Top slugger of the week was New York's Joe DiMaggio, who wrested the home-run leadership from Cleveland's Ken Keltner with 18 and kept his three bagger lead with eight.

MAKES GAME BID

NEW YORK (AP)—It's been 18 years since a National Leaguer batted .400 or better, but St. Louis' Stan Musial is making a game try this season with his league-leading .405.

The slashing Cardinal right fielder continued his amazing job against enemy pitchers last week to add eight points to his mark, which put him 55 points ahead of Boston's Tommy Holmes, his nearest rival.

Through games of Sunday, June 27, Musial has walloped 98 hits in 242 times at bat.

Holmes, who led during the first month of the season, is second with .350.

Slugging Stan also leads in runs scored, 55; hits, 98, and triples, 9. He is third to Hank Sauer of Cincinnati and Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh with 17 homers. Sauer leads the league in that department with 22. Sauer also tops the league in runs batted in with 99.

Coach Banished As Rhubarb Marks Timber Service Win

After the sun had gone down, the dust cleared, and the arguing ceased, Timber Service came out on the right end of a 9 to 8 score in a senior A men's softball game last night, as they defeated Bluebird Cabs in the longest nine-inning game of the season. The Timbermen are in a virtual tie for first place with Douglas Tire having nine wins and 4 losses to the Tiremen's eight wins and three setbacks.

Earl King, starting hurler for Timber Service, pitched to eight batters in the first inning, giving way to Joe Bryant after issuing four walks and two hits for a total of six runs. One more run came in before Bryant retired the side and the Cabmen had a commanding 7 to 0 lead. Timber Service scored one run in their half of the first and there was no further scoring until the sixth inning.

Chan, the pitcher for Bluebirds, walked the first two men in the sixth and then Milliken doubled to score both runners. Chan then threw four straight balls to Mickey Smith before being relieved by Aspinall. The parade to first continued as Aspinall walked the next two batters to force in a run and the score stood 7 to 4.

WILD ARGUMENT

Bryant started things in the seventh by walking. Billy Duncan was out on a fly to right field. Gus Hilton doubled to put runners on second and third. Milliken hit a ground ball to shortstop and Bryant was trapped between third and home, and in the ensuing rundown was tagged out but Embleton, the catcher for Cabmen, dropped the ball leaving the bases loaded.

Scotty Robinson, coach of Bluebirds, halted the game at this point and claimed that Bryant had made an infraction of the rules and he argued long and loud enough to be ordered out of the game by Umpire Perkins. Mickey Smith hit a grounder to the pitcher and he threw to home for the force out but Embleton dropped the ball again after Bryant had been called out and two more runs came in to make the score 7 to 6 in favor of the Cabmen. The game was held up for 10 minutes while the ruling on the play was straightened out.

In the eighth the Timbermen put together a walk and two doubles to add two runs and take an 8 to 7 lead.

Holness hit a long fly to centrefield that Travis misjudged and the runner circled the bases to tie the game at 8 to 8. In the bottom half of the ninth Milliken started off with a single. The next two men were out on flies. Hudlin then hit the first ball pitched to left field and Milliken scored all the way from first with the winning run. Bryant was the winning hurler and Aspinall the loser.

OTHER SCORES

In men's senior B games the leading Langford entry defeated Chinese Students 8 to 1 and Black and White Taxi won from Garrison 12 to 3.

Senior B women's games saw Spencer's win from Langford 13 to 3 and J. H. and E. defeat New Method 23 to 6. Canadian Scottish defeated C.Y.O. and Post Office turned back Douglas Hawkes in C section men's tilts. In a junior girls' contest Sidney defeated Goblin Cafe 13 to 7.

UPLANDS GOLF

A twilight two-ball mixed foursome will take place at Uplands Golf Club tomorrow night at 5.30. Entries close tonight.

"PUTTING IT ACROSS-ticks"

The lines below that we fix
Happens to B known as acrostics.
Each opening letter, of each line,
Taps a message, asinine.

So if you read the letters down
A corny slogan U will frown,
Yet we hope that in your mind,

Humber's you'll simply have to find.
U will too, sooner or later,
Make with your . . . accelerator,

Every gal needs a curtain-pole.
Really then, high heels or brogan,

Giving things away, of course we can't,

Voicing here, & on the air,
Every home needs another chair.

Reason why . . . we also say,
Not so much you'll have to pay.
If to another slogan U heed,
That makes it very . . . plain indeed,
U must save coin in our madhouse,

A lead-pipe cinch you cannot lose.
Whether a sofa, table or bed,

Louis Declares Himself Ex-Boxer; Favors Tournament

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis today called himself "an ex-boxer," suggested an elimination tournament to determine his successor, and declared he would make known his political stand after the Democratic Party convention in Philadelphia next month.

"But I definitely won't be for Wallace (Henry Wallace, leader of the third party) or any third party," the retired, undefeated heavyweight champion of the world added. Louis also denied reports he planned to run for Congress.

The champ, manager Marshall Miles, and several other members of the Louis party, visited the offices of the 20th Century Sporting Club to talk to promoter Mike Jacobs and his stand-in Sol Strauss.

In good spirits and looking very fit despite a slightly discolored left eye and a lump high on his left cheek, the champ joked with reporters and reiterated his decision to quit the ring.

Asked whether he still considered himself champion, Louis replied promptly "I don't consider myself a boxer any more."

A reporter pointed out to Louis that Jim Jeffries had named two fighters to meet for the championship when he retired as heavyweight king in 1905 and asked him if he felt he should do the same.

"No," he said slowly. "I don't think the winner of a Jersey Joe Walcott-Gus Lesnevich fight should be named champion. An elimination tourney is the only way to do it. I think they ought to take the 10 top-rated fighters and have them fight it out."

Walt Stohlberg Earns Position On Cup Net Team

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's Davis Cup hopefuls returned to Montreal today to prepare for their clash with Mexico July 8 to 10.

The four—Henri Rochon, Brendan and Jimmy Macken, all of Montreal, and Walter Stohlberg of Vancouver—were named as the Dominion's choices yesterday by F. S. P. Heward, chairman of the Canadian Davis Cup team selection.

They had been practicing in Baltimore because Montreal's grass courts were not immediately available.

Only surprise in the nominations was the inclusion of Stohlberg. He had been ranked fifth by the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, one berth behind Jimmy Skelton, also of Vancouver.

In the final voting, he nosed out Skelton by a few votes. Skelton was British Columbia's singles champion last year while Stohlberg was Vancouver city champ.

There was no immediate indication what assignments were in store for each of the four, but Rochon, 24-year-old southpaw, and Brendan Macken, 25, seemed good bets for the singles berth.

Captain of the team will be Ross Wilson, a former Davis Cupper.

For Brendan Macken and Rochon it was their third Davis Cup berth. Both placed against Mexico in 1946 and against Australia last year.

Rochon was the lone Canadian to win a singles match against the Aussies, whipping Dinny Pails. Last summer he won both the Ontario and Quebec provincial titles.

Last March, Rochon advanced to the third round in the United States indoor tennis tournament at New York.

Triple Play Seen As Tillicums Win Minor Ball Fixture

Aided by a lightning fast triple play in the sixth inning, Tillicums defeated Noble's Warriors, 10 to 6, in a midget baseball game last night.

Dave Wakeland, second baseman of the clubmen, started the three-way killing by taking a line drive at boot-top level for one out. He tagged the runner coming down from first for the second out and whipped the ball to second to catch a runner off that base for the third out.

Bottle Exchange squeezed out a 7 to 6 decision over Spencers in the other midget game. Ron McMillan started for the winners but was lifted for Ray Moodie in the fourth inning.

James Bay Merchants drubbed St. Louis College, 29 to 10, in a bantam game. Schebek hit two home runs for the winners and Bill Manson one with the bases loaded.

Dubois' Olympic Future Remains Heated Question

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Olympic future of sculler Theo Dubois is as uncertain today as are his whereabouts.

Dubois won the combined Canadian championships and Olympic trials at St. Catharines, Ont., Saturday, but was refused a place on Canada's Olympic squad, even after he had offered to pay his own expenses to London.

Subsequently:

1. Bob Richards, president of the Winnipeg Rowing Club, appealed to the Olympic selection committee to reconsider its refusal to name Dubois to the Canadian squad.

2. Prof. Nelson C. Hart of London, Ont., said it is "extremely unlikely" that the Canadian Olympic Committee will question the rowing selection committee's decision not to send Dubois to the Olympics. Hart termed his omission from the team "a financial problem."

3. His mother in Winnipeg suggested that since Theo is Belgian-born he represents Belgium in the Olympics.

4. Toronto sports writers, Jimmy Coleman and Ted Reeve rapped the Olympic selection committee for omitting Dubois.

5. Dubois' entry to defend his United States and North American singles championships was refused in Philadelphia because it was four days late in arriving.

6. Dubois left Philadelphia yesterday, presumably for Winnipeg, without giving any indication of his plans or views on the whole situation.

The Olympic selection committee ignored Dubois because they did not regard his time in Saturday's race as adequate. This brought snorts from Coleman and Reeve.

'Give Us The Squadron, We've Got The Men,' Is Plea Of Legion Group

Victoria would not have any difficulty in supplying men to bring up to strength an auxiliary R.C.A.F. squadron at Patricia Bay.

This assertion was made Monday night at a meeting of air-minded citizens who passed a resolution asking the federal government to form the squadron.

The meeting was held at the Canadian Legion, Britannia Branch Hall, and was sponsored by the Ad Astra Branch of the Legion, and the Air Force Officers' Association.

WITHOUT DELAY

The resolution, proposed by Flt. Lt. W. J. Kenton, asked Defence Minister Brooke Claxton to establish "in whole or in part" a Greater Victoria auxiliary squadron without further delay.

A campaign has been under way several months for formation of a squadron.

In support of the claim that men would be available, 50 of those attending the meeting signed a statement saying they were interested in joining.

Other prospective spare-time airmen will be urged to call at the R.C.A.F. recruiting office in the Belmont Building before July 10, not to enlist, but to sign a form stating they are interested in the squadron.

Phillip Holmes, former R.C.A.F. pilot, told the meeting:

"We've got to prove to Ottawa that we have sufficient personnel who are interested before they will grant us a squadron and machines."

CRACK UNIT

He said the squadron must become a crack, fully operational fighting unit.

"The squadron would be a component part of the force that will stop an aggressor," he said.

Approximate strength of the squadron would be 38 officers, including 22 pilots, and 186 other ranks. It probably would have eight Harvard trainers and four Vampires.

Family Court For Greater Victoria Being Considered

Setting up of a Family Court for Greater Victoria is being studied. The Juvenile and Probation Officers' Committee of the County of Victoria are looking over Vancouver's Family Court scheme with the idea of establishing a similar set-up locally.

When the committee has concluded its studies into all aspects of the family court a report will be submitted to the authorities, Probation Officer Arthur Rudge reports.

It is the firm belief of the committee that family matters, where marital difficulties arise involving children, should be dealt with in an atmosphere entirely removed from the police court.

A report on the recent social conference work at Hamilton, Ontario, has been given to the committee by Mildred Wright, superintendent of the Family Welfare and the Children's Aid Society.

No More Potatoes, Carrots After July 1

The last carload of Arizona carrots arrived in Victoria today and the last carload of California new potatoes is now in transit. When these have been sold, local carrots and potatoes will have to meet the demand here as no further shipments are to be allowed into Canada after July 1.

The local new potatoes will likely be higher priced than the California potatoes, wholesalers say.

Local celery and lettuce is plentiful and prices are reasonable. Cabbage prices are lower this week as are sweet potato prices.

Sicily lemons arrived in Victoria yesterday and another shipment is expected next week. California oranges and grapefruit are expected Friday.

Bananas are scarce but some are expected next week. They will be 1 cent a pound higher.

The strawberry season is drawing to a close and prices have begun to climb again. The first raspberries have made their appearance in a few stores.

Drop Reported In Meat, Milk Sales As Public Choosy

A near 50 per cent drop in meat sales over the past month was reported today by one local meat retailer and a 10 per cent drop in milk sales since the price increased a week ago, reported by one dairyman and no drop by another.

Meat sales were slower than usual for a Monday, according to the retailer, but two dairymen contacted found that while less milk was sold on Monday, more than the usual amount was ordered Sunday and today. A number of housewives chose Monday as a day of protest against the price of meat and milk.

"I don't think the public will be interested in the purchase of meat until there is a more marked decrease," the retailer said. "I have decreased the price of all my meat by 10 per cent but I think sales will not get back to normal until price returns to the level it was at a month ago."

He added, however, that if the embargo was lifted on export cattle to the United States, the price of meat would skyrocket in Canada since packers are paying farmers 50 per cent more for live beef in the U.S. than in Canada.

A public meeting will be sponsored by the Canadian Association of Consumers at 8 tonight at 602 Broughton Street, when the rise in living costs and recommendations for further action will be discussed. Mrs. Alfred Carmichael will be chairman.

Pigeons, Crows Are Gardeners' Nuisance

City police were informed Monday by game office officials it is not necessary to secure permission to shoot domestic pigeons. Permission is only required to shoot wild pigeons, protected under the Game Act.

The police station has received numerous calls of late by citizens whose gardens are being raided by pigeons and crows. In one case Monday afternoon Sgt. Steve Dunnell and Constable Jack Mason shot and killed eight crows.

Hindus And Moslems Live In Harmony, Says Y.M.C.A. Man

"Now that responsible government has been granted, India should rapidly grow into a first-rate dominion," said John H. Dunderdale, World Service Secretary of the National Council of Y.M.C.A.'s in India, Burma and Ceylon on his arrival in Victoria today.

The Ottawa-born "Y" man, currently on a speaking tour of the United States and Canada, spoke of the noticeable change in feeling between the people of India and the English population.

"They feel that they are now equal," he said, "the inferiority complex is gone and everyone is very friendly."

Hindus and Moslems live peaceably side by side and riots are pretty well a thing of the past, according to Mr. Dunderdale.

12 YEARS IN INDIA

Since going to India 12 years ago, Mr. Dunderdale has played a major role in establishing 158 branches of the Y.M.C.A. in India, Burma and Ceylon.

During the war he retained contact with his boys work, but devoted most of his time to the War Emergency Services of the Y.M.C.A. He helped to set up 225 servicemen's centres in south-east Asia.

Mr. Dunderdale will address the Y.M.C.A. Program Council, the board of directors and a Sikh youth group before leaving for Seattle tomorrow.

Purpose of his speaking tour is to familiarize Canadian and American "Y's" with the work in India and to assist the World Youth Fund for Restoration and Advance.

Life Of Baby Saved By Red Cross Blood

The life of another Victorian—this time a very young one—has been saved by the Red Cross through its blood transfusion service.

On June 15 at Royal Jubilee Hospital a nine-pound baby girl was born to the wife of W. G. Pearce, a war veteran, who is now a bus driver for the Vancouver Island Coach Lines.

The child was not born healthy, however. Dr. W. H. Moore, attending physician, found she was suffering from what is commonly called the RH factor, a condition of the blood which causes the white corpuscles to devour all the red ones.

Dr. Moore immediately contacted the Red Cross blood transfusion laboratory in Vancouver and enough blood to replace all that in the baby was flown here.

The blood for transfusion arrived shortly before Tuesday midnight. At 1.03 a.m. the baby was taken to the operating room and the slow process of draining off all the RH blood and replacing it with healthy blood was begun. By 3 a.m. the operation was finished and the child saved.

Hospital officials said this morning both mother and daughter were fine.

Canary Takes Over As 'Mother' To Baby Beacon Pheasants

You can't beat old Mother Nature, says Mrs. H. F. Lasenby, 1144 Dallas Road.

Nor can you beat Mrs. Lasenby's two-year-old male canary Buddy, you'll agree.

Buddy turned father to four baby pheasants recently and the Lasenby household was in an uproar.

It all started when a high wind blew the baby pheasants, estimated to be two-days old, out of their grount nests at Beacon Hill Park near the Lasenby home.

Mrs. Lasenby rescued the babies as they tumbled in the gusts across the street and here's where Buddy enter the picture.

TOOK CHARGE

Into his cage they went together with a hot-water bottle. The fun started. Buddy took charge of the situation at onee and when a hard-boiled egg was placed in his cage, he lined the little pheasants in a row, and fed them one by one.

He put on the stern-father act when the orphans looked with interest at his jar of seeds for breakfast. The egg was theirs, the seeds were his, and that's the way it went.

"It was a barrel of fun," laughed Mrs. Lasenby in recounting the story. "We couldn't get a thing done in the house until they went."

The baby pheasants now have a bantam hen as a foster mother at the park, and peace reigns in Buddy's cage and the Lasenby household.

Oak Bay Firemen To Meet Council On Wage Demand

A new working agreement will be discussed Wednesday evening by officials of the International Association of Fire Fighters, local 730, and Oak Bay Council.

Also attending the meeting will be W. T. MacLaughlin, conciliation officer appointed by the provincial labor department, and James Lusse, union local president, and Carl Coates, union secretary, representing the firemen.

The negotiations will concern the 17 Oak Bay fire department members who are included in the 110 members of the local union made up of firemen from the city and Oak Bay departments.

The wage increase request is based on the cost-of-living index but no actual figures of the increase sought have been released.

Association officials claim that the $174 basic wage rate for a first-class fireman is far below other wage scales in B.C. Vancouver's basic rate for firemen is $235 a month.

Hospitalization Plan Extension Is Sought

The convention of 23 B.C. aeries of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at Nanaimo went on record as favoring the expansion of the provincial compulsory hospitalization insurance scheme into a complete health insurance plan.

The resolution, which will be forwarded to the provincial government, also recommends that such a program be put up to the Dominion government by British Columbia with a view to making it nation-wide.

Playgrounds Open

The city playgrounds open today and will be in full swing by Monday of next week. The primary playlot on Ellice Street will register on Friday and start next Monday, July 5. These small children should be accompanied by a parent when registering.

Swimming for boys will commence at the Crystal pool on Friday at 9, and for girls the following Tuesday at the same hour.

Oak Bay playgrounds open on Monday, Saanich playgrounds on July 12 and Esquimalt on July 19

Flood Fund Drive To End Wednesday

Active campaigning for the B.C. Flood Emergency Relief Fund, now close to the $2,000,000 mark, will end Wednesday, Austin C. Taylor, provincial chairman, has announced from Vancouver.

Subscriptions offered during July will still be accepted, however, and banks and trust companies will continue as collection agencies.

Mr. Taylor said of the total amount donated, more than $300,000 has come from eastern Canada, chiefly Ontario and Quebec.

He expressed his appreciation of the whole-hearted and generous response accorded by other provinces.

"The fund provided the best example in many years of the kindness and neighborliness existing between Canadian provinces," he said.

Greater Victoria's contribution to the total is $148,594. Collections made Monday through the Royal Trust Company and local banks netted $1,673.

Asks Douglas Street Property Be Rezoned

The city received another request today for rezoning of property at the northwest corner of Douglas and Humboldt Streets to allow erection of a service station and operation of a parking lot.

The request came from F. P. Smith, Dominion Hotel, who said he understands the present lease on the property expires Wednesday, and he would like immediate rezoning action to allow him to make improvements to the property.

The service station and parking lot he proposes would have an entrance and an exit on Douglast Street.

Requests for similar action in the past have been refused on recommendation of the Town Planning Commission, which feels there are a sufficient number of garages in the area.

Kenneth Hoffman was fined $40 in Esquimalt police court Monday on a dangerous driving charge.

Premier's View Of Ottawa As Empire Capital Logical

LONDON (CP) — Informed sources said today it is "perfectly logical" to accept the prediction made by Prime Minister King in the Canadian House of Commons Monday — that Canada could look forward to the King and Queen residing part of each year in Ottawa.

The Canadian Prime Minister's statement caused no surprise in London, where it is recognized that the United Kingdom, in a changing, developing Commonwealth, should not necessarily claim the entire time of the Royal Family.

WIDESPREAD DUTIES

These factors have brought home to Britain that the sovereign has responsibilities and duties elsewhere that more often will require his absence:

1. The Canadian and South African tours demonstrated a satisfaction of the overseas subjects in the presence of the Royal Family as lively as that of United Kingdom residents. Britons read of the enthusiastic receptions, saw photographs of the King performing duties of state and remembered the vital contributions of the Dominions to the war effort and world recovery.

2. The old barriers to the Royal Family visiting distant capitals is being removed with the development of air transport and rapid communication. Commonwealth centres now are within a few days of each other. Wherever he is, the King can be reached quickly by his ministers in any part of the Commonwealth.

3. Large-scale emigration to Canada from the United Kingdom and Europe may mean that in the next 20 years the Dominions both in population and wealth will be more important than the United Kingdom. In that event it is only reasonable that the King should spend more time in the Dominions and it is probable Ottawa would have the first royal residence overseas.

"Where the King is, there is in fact the only capital of the Commonwealth and Empire," said one source.

People sometimes think sentimentally of London as the Commonwealth capital, but it is not so because each Dominion is a free, independent country sharing the common link of the crown. When the King is in Edinburgh, Ottawa or in a small village anywhere, that is the capital of the Commonwealth for the time being.

"And His Majesty's business can be done wherever he is, acting as the King of Great Britain, of Canada or of any of his Dominions.

TO VISIT AUSTRALIA

One authority said it was probable that royal visits to Commonwealth countries would have been far more extended had the war not intervened after the tour of Canada. Next year the King, Queen and Princess Margaret will travel to the Antipodes to visit Australia and New Zealand. Thereafter the new Dominions of India, Pakistan and Ceylon likely will hope for visits.

The colonies which still look to London as the Empire capital, also hope to see their ruler.

Whether there ever will be a Dominion's counterpart of Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle or other royal residences, none could forecast, but it was recalled that in previous overseas visits the Royal Family had been satisfied with existing accommodation as they desired to fit themselves with the conditions in the various countries visited.

CBC Expenditures Under Criticism In House Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Broadcasting Corporation expenditures came under criticism in the Commons today.

Rev. E. G. Hansell, S.C., Macleod, Alta., called the corporation and the government's international short-wave service a "tremendous drain on the taxpayer."

"Somewhere along the line we have got to call a halt," Mr. Hansell said as the House considered Revenue Department estimates for the short-wave service.

Mr. Hansell was critical of the government's proposed expenditure of $3,000,000 to buy and renovate the Ford Hotel in Montreal as a joint headquarters for the CBC and the short-wave service.

He said he had thought some day Canada might have a "radio city" of its own. He never had visualized the purchase of an old hotel.

Revenue Minister McCann, explaining the Ford purchase, said it would enable the government to reach a long-sought objective—concentrating its CBC and international service facilities in one building.

TOO LATE, HE SAYS

E. D. Fulton, P.C., Kamloops, protested at the government bringing in the estimates for the radio purchase in the last hours of the parliamentary session.

Mr. Fulton also wanted to know why Canada did not get compensation from the United Nations when it broadcast for the U.N.

The minister said that never had been regarded as a commercial undertaking. It was part of Canada's contribution to the U.N.

Mr. Hansell said he believed the CBC and the National Film Board should be placed under a separate ministry. Under the present system, he said, they probably ran their own business with little direction from the minister of revenue.

Report Soviet Troops May Go To Yugoslavia

PRAGUE (AP) — American diplomatic sources in Rome said today Russia may be building up a case to send troops to Yugoslavia.

The Kremlin-ruled Cominform—International Communist Information Bureau — denounced the Communist rulers of the Balkan country Monday. Premier Marshal Tito, his whereabouts still a mystery, was castigated by name and told in effect either to adhere to the party line or be replaced. Tanjug, the official Yugoslav new agency, said it expected a statement from Tito today.

The Belgrade correspondent of the Associated Press said there was a story that martial law was declared around Nis, near the Bulgarian border, to allow police and soldiers to evacuate persons from a flood zone. The story could not be confirmed because of poor communications.

Belgrade dispatches Monday said Tito was believed to be at his summer place at Bled in the north. He usually spends June there. A former Czechoslovak delegate to the United Nations said he thought Tito is dead.

Prime Minister Indicates He May Attend London Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister King indicated to the Commons today he may possibly attend the October meeting of Commonwealth Prime Ministers despite his expected departure from leadership of the Canadian government in August.

Answering a series of questions in the House, he said Prime Minister Attlee had expressed the wish that he attend the London meeting personally. He had explained about the August convention.

"As to what will be thought best to do can best be decided, I should think, after that meeting (the convention)," he added.

Replying to C.C.F. Leader Coldwell's question as to the purpose of the Empire gathering, Mr. King said he presumed it would be similar to the Prime Ministers' meeting held two years ago and that "matters of general interest to all the nations of the Commonwealth would be discussed."

"However," he said, "I am not aware of any general agenda which has been arranged thus far."

"Would the Prime Minister head the Canadian delegation to that conference?" asked Jean Francois Pouliot, Ind. Lib., Temiscouata, Que.

"It will not be a delegation," Mr. King replied. "What is desired is a meeting of the Prime Ministers. Whoever is in that office at that time will, I assume, represent Canada."

Record $3,546,000 Gate Forecast For Olympiad

LONDON (CP)—World sports fans will pay nearly £890,000 ($3,546,000), believed a record gate, to watch this year's 17-day Olympic Games. If the figure is reached, Olympic organizers will show a profit of approximately $1,275,000.

In preparation for the July 29 opening, round-the-clock workers at Wembley Stadium are checking, sorting, mailing and distributig tickets to all parts of the world. Already they've received nearly £200,000 in cash and cheques.

More tha 2,500,000 tickets have been printed for the game's 17 sports, covering 120 different sessions and 136 events. The tickets are water-marked, printed on banknote paper and guaranteed forgery-proof. Officials say it would be "foolish" to buy any on the black market.

The Wembley organization, under direction of "ticket millionaire" Fred Jackson who has issued tickets for every sporting event at the Stadium since 1924, has been carefully organized.

68 MASTER PLANS

"Half-a-dozen people pooled their brains on the scheme and no fewer than 68 master plans govern distribution," he said.

There will be no rain-check on any ticket, Jackson said. Another Olympic official declared events will go on "through rain, hail, sleet, a hurricane or an earthquake."

Tickets range from the two-shilling (40-cent) standing room to £22 6s. ($88.10) for reserved-seat space to watch the 12 sessions of boxing in Wembley Arena. Accommodation here is 6,500 and the boxing is a sell-out —£11,804.

Biggest sales so far are £68,386 taken for the track and field events at Wembley Stadium. There will be accommodation for 82,000 in the huge northwest London sports centre, including 22,000 standing room.

Half the 2,500,000 tickets are earmarked for overseas visitors. "We've had hundreds of applications from Canada but we couldn't possibly estimate the number," Jackson said. One-sixth have been allocated to the governing bodies of sport in Britain and the general public gets the remaining one-third.

Jackson said preference is given to those applying for a series of tickets. "Careful choosers of the best events only must take their chance."

Biggest surprise for organizers is the apathy shown for canoeing and wrestling shows. So far less than $300 worth of tickets has been sold for the Henley event and less than $200 for the matmen.

Oils, Rails, Steels Lead Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils, rails and steels led a slow-moving but persistent rally in the stock market today.

A number of issues failed to join in. Airlines, mail order and utility companies were among the principal laggards.

Union Oil of California went to a new 1948 high following announcement of an extra dividend yesterday.

Atlantic Coast Line, Sante Fe and Illinois Central led the rails and higher prices were paid for U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet.

Canadian issues were irregular. Canadian Pacific added ⅛. Distillers Seagrams lost ¼. Hiram Walker was unchanged. Dome Mines and McIntyre were unchanged.

London Market

LONDON (Reuter)—Settlement of the London dock strike came as a tonic to London Stock Exchange today. A feeling of relief spread throughout all sections when the news became known but it failed to bring any marked improvement in price values.

Small gains were registered in the industrial section and there was improvement in some British government securities, rises of up to ¼ per cent being recorded.

Oils made the best showing with prices in some cases well above the previous closing levels.

International stocks were lower following the easier trend of Wall Street.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Oats and barley prices showed a firm undertone on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange with lots of shipper demand. Offerings were light.

Rye responded to commission house demand but supply was limited.

There was no wheat sold under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement. Price of class two wheat—for export to countries other than the United Kingdom—remained unchanged.

CHICAGO (AP)—Prices moved in narrow range. Following an early dip wheat recovered and at times moved fractionally above the previous close.

Corn and oats could not develop much recovery drive, due largely to excellent weather for the development of the feed grain crop.

Washington Mother Kills 2 Babes, Self

OROVILLE, Wash. (AP)—A mother shot and killed her two sons Monday night and then killed herself, police reported today.

The victims were Mrs. Dorothy McGee, 30, and her sons, Reg, 2, and Doug, 1. The bodies were found on the shore of Lake Osoyoss.

Mrs. McGee had been in ill-health for some time. A note indicating suicide was found near the scene.

Lewis' Mine Workers Accused By N.L.R.B.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert N. Denham, National Labor Relations Board general counsel, issued an unfair labor practice complaint today against District 31 of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America.

Denham charged that U.M.W. members obstructed entrances of four West Virginia coal mines and refused to let non-union workers come up from underground until they signed union membership cards.

The incident occurred during the six-week mine shutdown over the miners' pension dispute in March.

Kitimat Returns From First Tuna Survey Trip

The Canadian government ship, Kitimat, returned to Victoria Harbor today from her first tuna survey trip inaugurated by the Dominion government as a step toward building up the Canadian tuna fishing industry.

The Kitimat, commanded by Capt. C. W. Barnshaw, carried aboard her A. J. Touchings, Dominion fishery inspector, and R. Scagel, biologist from the Pacific biological station at Nanaimo.

Capt. Barnshaw reported that, although no tuna were discovered, the work of his vessel, which broadcasts to fishermen four times daily, has aided fishermen now out after salmon who might otherwise have been tempted to go prospecting for tuna. As it is now, they can wait for reports from the Kitimat before putting out for the tuna grounds and thus save considerable money and time.

6 Under Arrest; Much Loot Found

VANCOUVER (CP)—Six persons today were in police custody and a seventh was being investigated in connection with two and possibly three rings, allegedly dealing in stolen property. Further charges of retaining stolen property may be laid against a woman and a 17-year-old youth, police reported.

In a series of raids Monday, police recovered thousands of dollars worth of goods reported stolen from homes and business premises in the Point Grey and Kitsilano districts of Vancouver and in New Westminster.

The first break in the theft rings came when Edward Van Huzin, 27, was arrested on a charge of stealing a taxi.

Dominion Day Exodus From Cities May Set Canadian Travel Record

By CANADIAN PRESS

Almost-deserted cities will dot Canada Thursday when families celebrate Dominion Day.

A Canadian Press survey today indicated that the holiday exodus on this 81st anniversary of Confederation might break records. The last general holiday, Victoria Day, was cold and dreary in many areas but, with good weather expected almost everywhere, July 1 shapes up as a humdinger.

Many business places plan to close from Wednesday night until Monday morning.

By Saturday, Americans starting their celebration of the July 4 Independence Day weekend will join holidaying Canadians.

Highway department officials, expecting what may be the heaviest week-end travel of the year, put special emphasis into their pleas for careful driving and walking. Last year there were 42 Dominion Day fatalities, most of them in traffic accidents and many others in drownings.

Stampedes and sports days in Alberta towns, highland games in Edmonton, police parades and street dances in Vancouver are planned to lend color to the observances. Sports events scheduled across the land include baseball games, yacht racing, harness meets and horse shows.

Twenty-one-gun salutes are set to be fired on Quebec City's Cape Diamond and near the Saskatchewan Legislative Buildings in Regina.

The Maritimes look for a great rush to the ocean beaches. As elsewhere in Canada, the railways are offering reduced rates for holiday trips.

Cost Of Campbell Dam Project Studied Here

Increased costs which faced the General Construction Company in carrying out the general contract for construction of dam, pipeline route, power house and all general work for the John Hart Development at Campbell River, was reviewed in the court-house today before Mr. Justice Sidney A. Smith, who is sitting as a commissioner regarding cost of the Campbell River dam, as to final payment of the cost of completion.

D. McAllister of the General Construction Company was queried by H. H. Griffin, solicitor for the B.C. Power Commission on depreciation, insurance coverage and labor costs this morning.

During the course of the work at the dam, the company filed a claim with the power commission in which they asked the commission to increase unit contract prices on account of construction costs having been raised due to causes beyond the contractor's control.

Legislation affecting hours of work, holidays with pay, shortage of labor and increased costs of materials were among the causes enumerated. Both the General Construction Company and the power commission agreed to submit a claim for arbitration before a judge. Both agreed to abide by the commissioner's findings.

Discussing losses, Mr. McAlister told the commissioner that the Campbell River project had priority over all other jobs the General Construction Company were handling at the time. The hearing is continuing.

One Woman's Day

'ALICE IN WONDERLAND'

FROM A FRIEND of mine who was in France recently, I have just received an interesting letter concerning the filming, near Paris, of "Alice In Wonderland."

Although it is being produced by Lou Bunin, a Frenchman, under the auspices of a French moving picture company, Lewis Carroll's English classic is being made by American technicians, with British actors and French financing, so that it will have an unusual international flavor all its own.

It is being made in color, with live actors plus puppet animation, all of the quaint animals in the fantasy, such as the Walrus, the Gryphon, the Mock Turtle, being represented by puppets.

INGENUITY ITSELF

WHEN MY FRIEND saw the film in process of production, it was at a specially constructed studio in Billancourt, on the outskirts of Paris.

But the actual shooting on the picture began at Victorine, near Nice, where all the Oxford scenes were filmed, because of the sunniness and also because a nearby river bore some semblance to the Thames.

The incredible ingenuity of the French movie craftsmen made a profound impression on the Hollywood technicians when they first came in contact with it at Victorine, she writes.

For when the Americans arrived there they found the studio had been a victim of enemy bombs and was still nothing but a pile of rubble that had to be cleared by hand.

NO TOOLS AVAILABLE

THE PICK-UP TRUCK, used to carry lumber and props in an ordinary movie studio, turned out to be a donkey cart. Even the most common tools, such as a blow-torch, were unavailable. And the elaborate Oxford exterior set was built entirely without machinery.

When the set designer asked for antique doors, the French carpenters cut them and put them together by hand. Then they built a huge bonfire and passed the door back and forth over it until it was burned to the proper tone.

After that, they scraped it down with wire brushes and peppered it with shotgun to get the antique, worm-holed effect.

AMERICANS ASTONISHED

AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED, the construction of one door took a whole day. No wonder the Americans were astonished, she writes, for in Hollywood a power saw would have cut the door, and a blow-torch would have been used for the antiquing. The whole door would have been finished in a few minutes.

On their return to Billancourt, the technicians found that studio still unfinished. Anticipating material shortages, the Americans had imported 20 tons of equipment. But they forgot cement, ten tons of which were needed for the sound-proof stage.

Couriers were accordingly sent out to find some, an almost impossible job, as it was practically non-existent in France.

CEMENT FOR POTATOES

HOWEVER, THEY FINALLY found that a theatre owner in Lyons had the requisite amount of cement but refused to sell it for francs in any amount.

What he wanted in exchange was potatoes, which were in more than usually short supply, owing to last year's crop shortage. Nor would he listen to any other offer of barter of any other kind. No potatoes, no cement, was his ultimatum.

So a group of French studio workers went all over the place buying a few pounds here, a few pounds there, until enough had been collected to satisfy the cement-owning barterer.

Fantastic? Yes, but to me there seems something peculiarly appropriate in this background. It should add an authenticity to the filming of Carroll's delightful story of Alice's fantastic adventures in Wonderland, which might have been lost in the lushness of Hollywood.
